Loeks Will Serve as U.S. Aide
List PFP Head
As Urban Advisor

C. David Loeks, president of Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc. has agreed to serve as a special advisor to Robert C. Weaver, U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, on implementing the 1966 Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act.

Part of 20 Group
Mr. Loeks, former Director of the Twin Cities Metropolitan Planning Commission in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, will be part of a 20 member advisory committee headed by William L. Slayton, Executive Director of Urban America and former commissioner of the Urban Renewal Administration.

The committee, made up of leaders in various governmental business and professional fields, is expected to meet at least four times in the coming year to advise the secretary and offer recommendations. Each member is appointed for a one year term. In his letter of invitation, Weaver pointed out that the 1966 act, "one of the most important pieces" of new legislation passed by the last Congress, challenges nation to develop comprehensive selected communities across the plans to attack both the human and physical problems that afflict many of our cities.

"These plans would cover entire neighborhoods and provide models for what could be applied elsewhere," he stated. "The act also challenges this department to provide leadership to the entire nation—to mayors, builders, and developers, local leaders, lenders, architects, planners—in meeting the needs of our areas through innovation and coordination of new and existing efforts."

Meeting on Jan. 23
Under the new legislation, the federal government will provide financial aid to cities and other municipalities for rejuvenating blighted areas, or constructing entire new neighborhoods — so long as the plans are part of an overall scheme for community development.

Loeks, who will be meeting with the secretary and other committee members January 23 in Washington, said he was "pleased to accept the invitation," adding: "I am confident the new act will offer dramatic new approaches to solving the problems of urban regions throughout the country — problems which are also shared by our own Mid Hudson region."

Educators Vote
65ers Tax Relief

A resolution granting a 50 percent tax exemption on real property owned by persons 65 years or over meeting statutory qualifications was unanimously passed Thursday night by the Board of Education of Kingston School District Consolidated.

The action was taken after brief discussion during which it was brought out that there is a possibility that new legislation might raise the limitation of combined incomes of owners of the property partially exempted from school taxes from $3,000 in a 12-month period to $4,500 or more.

Could Make Change
It was agreed that if the income figure should be changed in the future the school district board could rescind its action based on

KTF Asks Study
Group to Review
Bargaining Plans

Suggestions have been made by Kingston Teachers' Federation, Local 781 that the Board of Education of the Consolidated School District authorize immediately the establishment of an eight-member study group to review collective bargaining proposals before a final decision is reached.

The KTF through its president, Vernon L. Outwater Jr., recommends that this study group submit its findings to a joint meeting of the Board of Education and the Kingston City Schools Consolidated faculty during the last week in April, or the first week in May after a review of proposals of the Kingston Teachers' Association and KTF and requests pending before the 1967 State Legislature.

Set for February
Arthur Withall, president of the board, reported at Thursday night's meeting that the board was expected to make a decision prior to the February meeting regarding requested exclusive representation in the matter of collective bargaining.

At the December meeting of the school board, Gordon W. Usticke, president of KTA, read a resolution and requested the board to adopt it. No action was taken.

The resolution noted that the best interests of public education will be served by establishing procedures to provide an orderly method for the Board of Education and representatives of the local teachers' organization to negotiate on matters of common concern, to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement on these matters and to appeal through professional and educational channels in the event of an impasse.

A communication from Outwater to Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, school superintendent, with a request that he bring the letter to the attention of the Board of Education was also read.

the $3,000 limit which was approved last night.

A public hearing on the tax exemption matter was conducted by the board several weeks ago and there was no opposition to the proposal at that time.

Three residents of the Lake Katrine area appeared last night and inquired into reasons for changes in schedules at the Lake Katrine School, which they contended delayed some pupils in dismissal at the close of the day's classes.

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent, and Arthur Withall, board president, explained that the school staff had made a study of a problem at the school, and had recommended a plan that would eliminate the necessity of supervising some 1,400 students at the school prior to the start of the day's sessions.

No Changes
The school officials assured the residents that there had been no major changes in bus schedules, and that no buses were running earlier or later in the day than usual.

Dr. Hoover and Withall noted that when the bus contracts are considered this year, a more improved schedule probably could be worked out. During the discussion it was explained that it would cost the district upwards of $40,000 in addition to the present transportation costs if buses were added for single runs to transport pupils.

Board members were reminded that bids will be opened in New York City on Jan. 9 for the sale of serial bonds totaling $3,550,000 for the new M. Clifford Miller Junior High School. The bonds will be of $5,000 denomination.

Robert J. Markes, associate superintendent, reported that two students had received honors in a American History contest conducted in Albany recently in which there were 500 entries. Markes said Frank Johnson, 17-year-old high school student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Johnson placed second and received a $100 bond. Holly Seitz, a high school junior, of 85 Washington Avenue, was one of 12 other award winners and received a $25 bond. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Seitz, 85 Washington Avenue.

To Send Letter
The board requested Dr. Hoover to write a letter to each of the winners and their teachers, congratulating them.

In other business last night the board authorized Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business, to purchase and have installed a new boiler at the warehouse and provide material and labor not to exceed $2,500. The work will be done immediately as it was noted it is an emergency.

A bid on fluorescent lamp bulbs for the school district was awarded to Canfield Supply Company. The bid was $1,526. There was one other bid submitted. A bid for delivery and placement of earth fill at the Henry L. Edson Elementary School on Merilina Avenue, was awarded to William A. Buchanan. The bid was $1.10 per cubic yard and was the lowest of four.

Civil service appointments for cafeteria assignment approved by the board included: Laurence M. Aronson, senior cook manager to replace Helen Tompkins; Waverly Lee Drake, small vehicle driver, and Mrs. Rosella M. Bruck, Mrs. Violet Exstrand, Mrs. Edith M. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Beatrice Smith and Mrs. Evelyn V. Wolven, substitute food service helpers.

Other Civil Service appointments included Donna Lee Hasset, temporary stenographer and Joseph Johnson told reporters:

"I have a completely open mind."

He added, however, that he would like to see Herzberg's report before giving his decision. The case, which has attracted worldwide attention, comes up Monday morning before Herzberg, sitting in family court in Kingston. Herzberg said he would sign the adoption papers then, if Fitzsimmons agrees.

The law provides that, when a child has been placed with a commissioner of public welfare for adoption, the commissioner's agreement is necessary before the court can sign the order.

This fall, Fitzsimmons had obtained a court order to remove the girl from the Liunis' care. She had lived with them as a foster child since she was five days old.

Liuni, an executive for International Business Machines, and his wife contended they were not being allowed to adopt the child because she is blonde and blue-eyed and they are swarthy Italian-Americans.

Principal Teachers, Other Employees Named

Appointments of a principal for School 7 and four teachers on probationary basis and approval of a part-time coordinator of federal projects for Kingston Schools-Consolidated were included in business transacted at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

The Board voted to modify its policy, as stated in its 1965-66 Salary Regulation Handbook, in keeping with a decision of State Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, Jr., who has ruled that teachers on either probationary or tenure appointment are entitled to maternity leave upon request.

To Start Jan. 23
William A. Esser was appointed principal of School 7 effective Jan. 23 at a salary of $9,880 pro rata, for the remainder of the current fiscal year. He will succeed Donald E. Sweeney, who will take up his duties as principal of the Harry L. Edson Elementary School on Jan. 30.

Teachers who were appointed were: Mrs. Susan Doehler and Mrs. Promilla Gupta, elementary, effective Jan. 1; Miss Patricia Hogan, junior high school teacher (academic), and Miss Harriet Schoenfeld, elementary teacher. Ronald A. LeBlanc was approved as part-time coordinator of Federal projects in Kingston Schools. It was noted that the school district has several special projects funded under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in progress, and it is necessary that certain of the administrative functions in connection with these projects be coordinated on a consistent basis.

The board accepted resignations of Doris Linnville, effective June 30, and Jeanette B. Moore, effective Jan. 27, with regret.

Now Permanent
Eighteen clerical employees, who have satisfactorily served a 26-week probationary period, were given permanent status in the school district. They were: Christina Beck, Elaine Dederick, Tonya Rothmann, Margaret Schwarz, Mildred Shiels, Mary Slater, Jeannine Steuding, Verna Stevens, Kathleen Van Keuren, Rachel Vurchio, Sharon Wuttke and Rosanne Yetzer, stenographers, and Audrey Carpino, Marjorie Combs, Elizabeth Dierks, Anne Nicoletti, Jessie Torrens and Patricia Turco, clerk-typists.

Civil service appointments for cafeteria assignment approved by the board included: Laurence M. Aronson, senior cook manager to replace Helen Tompkins; Waverly Lee Drake, small vehicle driver, and Mrs. Rosella M. Bruck, Mrs. Violet Exstrand, Mrs. Edith M. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Beatrice Smith and Mrs. Evelyn V. Wolven, substitute food service helpers.

The Town Board of the Town of Ulster at its monthly meeting Thursday night engaged the services of Warren Travers, P. E., transportation and traffic engineer, to make a study and design an alternate plan for the State Arterial Route in the town which will give better access to properties along Route 9W which under the State's proposed plan would become located on a "dead-end" section of 9W.

Will Prepare Substitute
Travers will make a study and prepare a substitute plan which will be submitted to the New York State Public Works Department for consideration. The sum of $2,400 was authorized for the project.

Under the present tentative plan of the State, which will be reviewed at a public hearing at the State Armory, in Kingston on Jan. 17 at 2 p. m., there is no area provision made for entrance or egress from the proposed Arterial Route to 9W except near Shop-Rite Circle. This plan would in effect make 9W north from Shop-Rite Circle a "dead-end" route except for its connection with Neighborhood Road. Business men in the area to have a connection with 9W from the Arterial Route in the vicinity of the Route 209 overpass, giving ingress an egress to 9W at a northerly junction.

Letters were read Thursday night from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Department of Public Works Superintendent J. Burch McMoran as well as the notice for the public hearing.

Call Cablevision,
Council Session
As 'Constructive'

A joint statement issued today by the Laws and Rules Committee of the Common Council and representatives of Kingston Cablevision termed Thursday night's meeting of the two "very constructive."

Edward M. Norton, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee, said the committee members "were very highly impressed by the amount of work the Cablevision firm is doing and intends to do in the next few months."

NBC Official Present
Richard Allwork, Cablevision manager, noted that the firm has agreed to keep the public informed as to progress of the system improvement project, and to provide the Laws and Rules committee with monthly reports on overall progress.

A representative of the National Broadcasting Company, owners of Kingston Cablevision, was present at the meeting to explain COMMEMORATION PLANNERS—A committee met this week to outline preliminary plans for a combined commemoration April 20 marking the 190th anniversary of the signing of the first State Constitution in Kingston and honoring the memory of Col. George F. Chandler on the 50th anniversary of the New York State Police. The planning session at Gov. Clinton Hotel included (l-r) Paul Coon, chairman of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee; Lawrence A. Quilty, commemoration dinner chairman; Peter O. Allen, (standing) executive vice president of the Chamber; H. Clark Bell, State Constitutional Convention delegate; George V. D. Hutton, chairman, Chandler presentation; Francis Kugelman, (standing) general chairman and George Svirsky, Chamber president. Will Mark Constitution Date, Honor State Police Founder

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today announced plans to commemorate the 190th signing of the first State Constitution in Kingston by celebrations at the State Senate House and Ulster County Court House. Paul Coon, chairman of the Chamber's Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee, also announced that the April 20 celebration will honor the memory of Col. George F. Chandler on the 50th Anniversary of his founding of the New York State Police at Kingston.

Dedication Expected
It was in April, 1917, that Col. Chandler a noted Kingston physician and surgeon, was instrumental in the founding of the first State Police unit in the United States. The event was the highlight of Col. Chandler's longtime interest in criminology. Working with a State-wide association of former State policemen, the Chamber expects to dedicate a monument to Col. Chandler. The monument will be placed in the vicinity of the Albany Avenue-Broadway intersection at the eastern end of Col. Chandler Drive, Interstate Route 587.

An extensive program is planned in celebration of the 190th Anniversary of the signing of the first State Constitution which took place in Kingston April 20, 1777. The celebration will be especially meaningful since the Constitutional Convention will convene in Albany earlier in April for the purpose of writing a new Constitution for the State. The nearly 200 delegates to the 1967 Constitutional Convention will be invited to participate in the ceremonies at the State Senate House. It was in this very building, which has been preserved over the years, and now serves as a state-operated museum, that the first State Legislature convened. Here the State's first Constitution was drawn-up and signed. Later in 1777, after Kingston was burned by the British, the seat of the State Government was moved to Albany.

Chairmen Named
Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee member Francis Kugelman will act as overall chairman for the dual commemoration. Lawrence A. Quilty will serve as chairman for the dinner which will be held on the evening of the 20th for the delegates to the Constitutional Convention and the former State Police organization representatives.

Rusk Reaffirms U. S. Readiness,
Red Broadcast Still Leaves Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared in a letter made public today that the United States is ready now to meet with representatives of North Vietnam "either in public or in secret to work out arrangements for a just solution" of the Vietnam war.

Rusk also reaffirmed U.S. assurance to the Communist side in the conflict that "there will be no difficulty in having the views of the Viet Cong presented at any serious negotiation."

But he was emphatic in rejecting Communist demands that the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm, be represented as sole spokesman for the people of South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, Communist North Vietnam's radio broadcast today an "authorized" statement repeating Premier Pham Van Dong's description of Hanoi's four-point stand on the Vietnam war as a "basis" for settlement.

The Associated Press dateline story from Tokyo added that the terse announcement left in doubt whether it was meant to encourage or dampen hopes for negotiations aroused by the North Vietnamese premier's interview with Harrison E. Salisbury of the New York Times, printed Wednesday.

These Rusk statements, in a seven-page letter to a North Carolina student leader, came in the midst of worldwide speculation that the leaders in North Vietnam may be becoming more interested in discussions on ending the war than they have been in the past.

Only Thursday, Hanoi's diplomatic representative in France declared that if the United States would "unconditionally" stop bombing his country his government would be ready to "examine and study" American proposals on negotiating an end to the war.

Earlier, North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong had spoken in an interview of the possibility of profitable talks once the fighting is stopped.

Rusk's letter was dated Jan. 4, two days ago, and made public by the State Department today. It was addressed to "student leaders" who had written inquiring about or criticizing U.S. policy on Vietnam.

The letter released was sent to Robert Towell, president of the student body at the University of North Carolina. Towell had written President Johnson Dec. 29.

Rusk defended the U.S. fight in Vietnam and the bombing of the north. He deplored civilian casualties resulting accidentally from air attacks on military targets.

"I would remind you that tens of thousands of civilians have been killed, wounded, or kidnapped in South Vietnam, not by accident but as result of a deliberate policy of terrorism and intimidation conducted by the Viet Cong," Rusk said.

On negotiations issues, Rusk said first that "there will be no difficulty in having the views of the Viet Cong represented at any serious negotiation."

"The details of how this might be done can be discussed with the other side," he said. "There is little point in negotiating such details with those who cannot stop the fighting."

On the policy and problems of bombing North Vietnam, Rusk said:

"It is our policy to strike targets."

Herzberg Says Investigators Data
Guided Ruling in Favor of Liunis

Judge R. Waldron Herzberg of Hudson told The Freeman this afternoon that he will come to Kingston on Monday, Jan. 9, prepared to sign necessary papers for the adoption of pretty, blonde 4½-year-old Beth St. John by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni of Tilton.

Judge Herzberg emphasized that he would sign the adoption papers providing Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons signs necessary papers of consent and agreement with the Liunis.

The case had been scheduled for hearing in county Family Court here before Judge Herzberg on Monday. Herzberg had been assigned in November by the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court to hear arguments on a habeas corpus proceeding brought by Fitzsimmons.

Herzberg said that on his return with his wife from the Virgin Islands yesterday afternoon he conferred with Judge William E. J. Connor of Hudson who had been appointed as special guardian and counsel for the child and Frank W. Appleton, former State Police BCI sergeant whom he had assigned as special investigator in the case.

Herzberg said Connor and Appleton both submitted detailed reports in which they "strongly recommended" that the Liunis be permitted to legally adopt the little girl. The judge added that the child's guardian and the special investigator agreed that the adoption by the Liunis would be in the best interests of the child.

Upon hearing of the decision by Surrogate Judge R. Waldron Herzberg of Columbia County, Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons told reporters:

"Have Open Mind": Commissioner

"I have a completely open mind."

He added, however, that he would like to see Herzberg's report before giving his decision. The case, which has attracted worldwide attention, comes up Monday morning before Herzberg, sitting in family court in Kingston. Herzberg said he would sign the adoption papers then, if Fitzsimmons agrees.

The law provides that, when a child has been placed with a commissioner of public welfare for adoption, the commissioner's agreement is necessary before the court can sign the order.

This fall, Fitzsimmons had obtained a court order to remove the girl from the Liunis' care. She had lived with them as a foster child since she was five days old.

All Is Not Rosy For Go-Go Gals, Tough on Eyes

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — What do go-go girls face in the way of occupational hazards?

The answer — at least in certain parts of New Jersey last summer — was eyestrain, according to the State Health Department.

In its annual report, the state agency said Wednesday it had come to the aid of a number of go-go ladies in distress, who complained of being troubled by eyestrain at night clubs in Atlantic City, Camden and Cape May.

Investigation showed that certain night spots were using ultraviolet lights to produce glowing effects on costumes and parts of the body, the department said adding that too much of this kind of light can be harmful.

Complaints fell off after the health bureau showed the night clubs how to redirect lighting, the department said.

Basic Handbook On Mental Illness Is Now Available

The Ulster County Association for mental health draws attention to a concise and informative entitled Basic Handbook on Mental Illness, by Harry Milt, the 91-page book brings together in a single publication, technical information that is of practical use to professionals and nonprofessionals. A comprehensive fund of basic information about mental illness is presented.

The book is in two parts. The first eight chapters include descriptions of the different mental and psychosomatic illnesses, theories about their causes and development, and discussions of alcoholism and other personality disorders. The last four chapters discuss the different type of treatment for mental illness, the professions that treat the mentally ill, the institutions and agencies in which treatment is given, the admission and commitment practices. The handbook concludes with a chapter giving guidance on treating the mentally ill, and on ways of obtaining appropriate help when mental illness occurs.

At the teaching level, Basic Handbook on Mental Illness is especially suitable for use in in-service training for psychiatric aides and other mental health staff members, and for students in nursing, social work, music therapy, and clinical pastoral training.

The book may be obtained from Scientific Aids Publications, 32 Heights Terrace, Fair Haven, N. J. Inquiries may also be directed to the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street.

President Poses With Dimes Girl

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson had his picture taken Thursday with 5-year-old Donna Dill of Hillsboro, Tex., who is on a coast-to-coast tour as the 1967 national March of Dimes child campaigning for funds to fight birth defects.

Pert Donna, wearing her blonde hair in a pony tail, was born with an open spine. With the aid of March of Dimes she has had five operations so that she now can walk with leg braces and crutches.

Donna in her pink and white striped dress, was accompanied on the White House visit by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Dill.

The Hatfield and McCoy feud began in the 1860's and continued for nearly 50 years.

Plan Enrichment Program at UCCC

By ISAAC M. FLORES

As a community service, Ulster County Community College will offer an enrichment program for area high school juniors and seniors starting in February, 1967, Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, said today.

The offering, to be called the Saturday Collegiate Program, has been designed as a stimulating, engaging intellectual experience to broaden the students' interests in their overall endeavors of learning.

Explains Program

"We're highly enthusiastic about this program," Dr. Lake said. "It will consist of several semester-long seminars, each built around a different discipline or a single aspect of a discipline. The goal is an enriched experience for the students as well as to sharpen their enthusiasm for a college experience."

Twenty-four high school principals, guidance counselors and teachers from eight public school districts in Ulster County recently met with college officials to map plans for the program. The school districts include Ellenville, Highland, Kingston, Marlboro, Onteora, Rondout, Saugerties and Walkkill.

The program coordinator is Harry Matzen, an assistant professor of history at the college.

The objectives of the program are to present ideas and concepts to high school juniors and seniors that are inventive, stimulating and challenging; to enable high school students to become acquainted with college-structured courses, and to ease the student's transition from high school to college.

30 Students Limit

The enrollment is being limited to 30 students to encourage class discussion. Each school will be given a quota of students to send to the enrichment program, with selection being left to the individual school districts.

To keep the intent of enrichment from being lost, no college or high school credit is given for the program courses.

The courses in the program, to last 10 Saturdays from 10 a. m. to noon, will have a theme, well-defined topics and meaningful activities.

The college instructors who will participate in addition to Professor Matzen are Frederic N. Misner, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. Salvatore Mondello, associate professor of history; John J. Mikalauskas, a mathematics instructor; Edward A. Hammers, assistant professor of mathematics; Richard B. Glazer, associate professor of biology;

Roger F. Beaulieu, assistant professor of biology; Richard C. Smith, a physical science instructor; Derwin H. Stevens, assistant professor of physics; Byron P. Connell, a history instructor; Robert A. Kurland, associate professor of sociology, and Shu-Chin Shen, assistant professor of economics.

The College's Science and Mathematics Division will offer a seminar entitled, "Nature of Science." This will be an interdisciplinary seminar to show the essence of science and how the various science and mathematics disciplines are interrelated with one another.

Offers 3 Seminars

The Social Science Division will offer three seminars.

One seminar is "The Classical and Medieval Foundations of Western Thought," designed to acquaint the student with intellectual trends before the 15th Century which had a profound influence in shaping modern western thought.

Another is the "Dynamics of Sociology," a seminar designed to help students learn the basic elements and the concepts and theories of contemporary sociology, designed to help students learn the basic elements and the concepts and theories of contemporary sociology.

The third seminar will be "The United States as a Mass Society—a Critical Appraisal." It will attempt a critical appraisal of America as a mass society and examine the historical quest for a national identity.

State Rejects Bid For Westchester Job

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A $19,238,434 bid for construction of a section of Interstate Route 87 in Westchester County has been rejected because it was the only offer made on the project.

A spokesman for the Public Works Department said Thursday the bid was submitted by the A. J. Orlando Contracting Co. Inc. of Amesbury Mass., for construction of 5.23 miles of the interstate between Armonk and Route 172.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads refused to concur in the award because Orlando's was the only bid, the state agency said.

New bids on the project will be sought Jan. 26, an agency spokesman said.

Completes Course

Army Private Harry B. Snow of Saugerties, completed a field communications crewman course at Fort Dix, N. J., Dec. 16. During the course, he was trained to string wire from the field to the communication center. Instruction was also given in basic electricity, switchboard installation and operation and pole climbing.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth suffer embarrassment because their plates drop, slip or wobble at just the wrong time. Don't live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the non-acid powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Checks denture breath. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

Expect Federal Cutback of State Aid to Indigent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cutback in federal money for state programs to aid the medically indigent is almost a certainty in the 90th Congress, sources here report.

The extent of the curbs to be placed on state programs still are to be worked out, congressional sources reported Thursday.

Foresees Changes

It was learned, however, that the changes were expected to exceed the single restriction recommended by the House Ways and Means Committee in the closing days of the 89th Congress.

That restriction would have prohibited federal funds from being used to help pay the health bills of persons under 65 who are not on welfare, blind or disabled.

The expected changes will not affect the federal Medicare program.

The House committee began its investigation of state programs primarily because of the controversy stirred by a medical-aid program begun in New York State last year.

That state established a plan under which a family of four, for example, with an income of up to $6,000 annually after taxes, would be eligible for aid.

Limit Larger

The income limit for larger families was higher.

Many critics of the program charged that the eligibility ceiling was too high.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved the New York State plan. Many Congressmen, however, expressed fear that other states would follow New York's plan which, they said, could lead to a drain of federal money.

To Resume Talks In Mohawk Strike

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Negotiations between striking mechanics and Mohawk Airlines officials resumed today in an effort to settle a 29-day-old strike against the regional carrier.

A meeting Thursday between the company and representatives of Local Lodge 75 of the International Association of Machinists and Aero-Space Workers was the first since talks were recessed Dec. 22.

The dispute now is over how many of the firm's 500 mechanics will be permitted to return to their jobs.

Originally, the mechanics struck over the method of financing a pension plan.

When that was resolved, however, the company announced that, because it had sold eight piston-engined planes, 125 jobs were eliminated.

The union contends that all mechanics must be permitted to return to work.

Cincy Boosts Salaries

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Salaries of Cincinnati's 1,800 policemen and firemen were boosted $1,000 a year Thursday by the city council, which also granted raises to all other city employees.

This will bring the maximum yearly pay for patrolmen and firefighters to $7,921. Their starting pay is now $5,965. Firemen and policemen must be paid the same under the city charter.

INCOME TAX SERIES

The nation's taxpayers have just received the glad tidings that Internal Revenue, ever faithful to its trust, has mailed 1966 income tax forms. Eager benefactors of the federal government doubtless are champing at the bit for their chance to fill out their returns and send in their contributions.

We also understand that for the first time every income tax return will be reviewed electronically by a mechanical brain known as "The Monster," which will check every item on the return against the information on file for every person who pays or should pay income taxes.

In order to help lighten the burden of the taxpayer and assist him in affecting savings through legitimate deductions and credits, The Freeman is publishing a series of articles, "Cut Your Own Taxes" by Ray DeCrane, who is recognized as one of the nation's foremost authorities on tax matters.

It seems that a refresher course is needed year after year to take advantage of legal deductions and credits under the ever-changing tax laws. A perusal of these articles could save you dollars.

A CHILD'S PERSPECTIVE

This Yuletide presented new evidence that in providing their children with Christmas gifts most parents tend to go for broke.
The idea is to give each of them one resplendent gift and then surround it with a solar system of lesser offerings.

Often a planet or mere asteroid outshines the sun. The recipients of some electronic marvel that cost a fortune, not to mention four hours of Dad's time setting it up on Christmas night, may be found in a corner reading a dollar book from the little girl down the block—or fooling with a glob of silly putty that did its part as a stocking filler, or putting together a 75-cent puzzle.

Never mind. The electronic marvel will have its turn as the center of attention in due time. Meanwhile, the fond and exhausted parents can be grateful for that special quality of childhood which turns small things into wonders that delight the eye and intrigue the mind.

THE TIME IS NOT YET

We seem to be in for another round of fussing and feuding over that bland yet explosive question: What time is it? The daylight saving time law enacted by Congress early in 1966 has not quite solved the problem. Further battling is in prospect, and the end is not in sight.

Under provisions of the federal law, in all states which observe daylight saving time clocks must be advanced an hour from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. That gives us national uniformity in time. Except that no state need conform if its legislature votes to remain on standard time. Some are expected to do just that. The day when the answer to that question, What time is it?, will be the same everywhere in a U.S. time zone will not dawn for awhile yet.

Vietnam is voted the top story of 1966.
It's also the saddest.

"These Days"

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE PASSING OF A FREEDOM FIGHTER

Dr. Bela Fabian, the exiled Hungarian Freedom Fighter who died on Christmas Day of a heart attack in Puerto Rico, had a unique distinction: he was the only person in the world who had managed to escape from a World War I Bolshevik prison camp in Siberia and a Nazi concentration camp in World War II Germany.

The man, with his twinkling dark eyes was restless and indomitable, and I had always thought of him as indestructible in spite of his seventy-seven years. If Hitler and Lenin couldn't kill him, then who could? I saw him just before he took off with his warm-hearted wife, Edna, for Puerto Rico, for a week in the sun which he loved, and he was full of plans for doing something about the three concentration camps that he had discovered still existed in Hungary. Someone asked him why, at his age, he felt compelled to keep up the fight against Kadar's Communist Hungarian government when it was supposed to be succumbing to liberal influences. He pointed to the tattoo mark on his arm that told of his incarceration in the Nazi hell of Auschwitz, from which he had escaped to General Patton's lines, and said he couldn't rest as long as there were political prisoners behind walls in the Iron Curtain countries.

Bela's activities as chairman of the Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners — activities that involved protests of all sorts when a Nikita Khrushchev or a Janos Kadar visited this country — were adequately covered in the news stories printed a few days after his death. But what the obituaries did not mention was Bela's great ability as a reporter. It is a journalistic axiom that one must be wary of putting trust in refugees when it comes to getting news. They are popularly supposed to think with their hopes.
But Bela Fabian had a commitment to the truth that led him to double-check anything he said. I learned to trust him at the time when the Western newspapers were filled with reports that Cardinal Mindszenty, the Hungarian archbishop who had sought refuge in the American legation in Budapest, was going to leave his homeland and go to Rome. "He won't go," said Bela, "you may take my word for it." The Cardinal never did go.

Bela was the first person in this country to say that there would be a failure in the 1963 Soviet wheat crop. He wanted me to write a column about it, and I asked for proof. He pulled letters from his pocket from Soviet Kazakhstan, written in Hungarian. The letters, as he read them, told of widespread farm sabotage in the Soviet Union.
It was then I learned that some 60,000 Hungarians who had been deported to Russia after the succession of the Hungarian Revolution were still being held and worked as agricultural slave laborers. Bela told me in confidence how the letters reached him. The story was quite believable, so I wrote the column. Later the fact of a 1963 crop failure was reported by Radio Liberty, which monitors Russian radio sources.

Bela picked up news on a trip to Munich that one reason for Khrushchev's downfall was a mission to West Germany undertaken by the Soviet premier's son-in-law, Aleksei Adzhubei, the editor of "Izvestia." Supposedly Adzhubei carried an offer from Khrushchev to trade with Khrushchev settlement, unification and all, for cash and industrial equipment. This offer was interpreted as treason by the forces in Moscow that shortly resented Khrushchev's move toward Khrushchev.
Bela's account, which he based on an presumably reliable hearsay, has never been confirmed or denied. It is worth setting down here for historians to investigate.

Now that Bela is gone, who will take up the cause of Hungarian political prisoners who have not yet been amnestied for engaging in the momentarily successful 1956 Hungarian Revolution, which had to be suppressed by the Russians?
The mood, as decreed by the White House is all for "bridge-building" between the U.S. and Eastern Europe, and when you are negotiating to anchor the abutments of bridges the truth can be uncomfortable. It takes someone of Bela Fabian's special steel to keep reminding us that there remains, despite the softening of recent years, a yawning difference between "captive" peoples and the Communist governments that still (Copyright, 1967, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Diet and Small Feedings Reduce Morning Sickness

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — IS there anything I can take to prevent morning sickness? I had it pretty bad with my first pregnancy.

A — There is no way to prevent morning sickness but you can minimize it by taking frequent small feedings and avoiding rich, greasy foods.
There are several seasickness remedies that will help tide you over the weeks when this is a problem. If, instead of morning sickness, the vomiting persists all day you may have to spend a few days in the hospital until this complication is controlled. Some women have morning sickness with every baby and others only with their first. Unfortunately, there is no test to determine to which group you belong.

Q — Is it possible to menstruate after pregnancy has started?

A — It is not uncommon after the start of a pregnancy for a woman to have a menstrual period, but the flow is usually less profuse than normally. If a woman has a second menstrual period after a pregnancy, she should consult her doctor should suspect some disease of the uterus as a cause of the bleeding rather than menstruation.

Q — When a woman has her tubes tied will this cause any physical or mental changes in her?

A — It will cause no physical changes and there is no reason why it should cause any mental or emotional changes except a greater freedom from worry but this is hard to predict because such changes depend on many factors that are hard to evaluate.

Q — I am afraid to take any medicine while I am pregnant. I have been taking Fiorinal and Equanil. If I were pregnant would they harm the baby?

A — No woman who is pregnant should take any medicine except under careful medical supervision. Fiorinal is a sedative usually given for tension headaches. It contains a barbiturate and so may be habit-forming. It will not harm the baby. Meprobanate (Equanil) is a tranquilizer and might possibly retard the development of your baby in the uterus.

Q — Is it possible for a woman's cycle to be such that her time to become pregnant is during her menstrual period?

A — The idea that ovulation might occur with menstruation was exploded about 40 years ago.
It occurs in all women about midway between menstrual periods.

Q — Is it true that if young women indulge in sports involving jumping it will cause them to have difficulties in childbearing later?

A — No. Any kind of sport that increases a girl's physical fitness would be an asset to her.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

A Soviet paper says Washington consults Peking before every escalation of the war. We kind of wish Peking would advise against it now then.

Rusk tells NATO the Atlantic Alliance's western flank is in the Pacific. But if sounds of attack come from there, NATO may prove a little hard of hearing.

"We Can Reach Every City in the U. S. with This One!"

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The year 1967 will see spirited new debate on the value of "instant history."

The life and death of John F.
Kennedy have, of course, provided the biggest spur in the century to the quick retelling of great events.

In 1965 the Theodore Sorensen and Arthur Schlesinger books on Kennedy's presidency were laid down as important building blocks in the final edifice which real history—with its necessary long perspective—will erect for him.

So, in a quite different way,
will William Manchester's book,
"The Death of a President," begin to serve this function as the first serialized installment makes its appearance in less than a fortnight.

But no American should forget the highly preliminary nature of these works. They are not history but merely its material.

In the case of the controversial Manchester book, interest among influential figures and average citizens is hugely compounded by the fact that it involves the martyred Kennedy, his beautiful wife with her unbounded capacity to gain the attention of millions, an incumbent president, the cruel drama of an assassination, and the linking of many other persons of prominence to that event.

Given the status the dead president enjoys today in so many American eyes, all of this interest is both legitimate and inevitable.

It must be observed, however, that the quite agitated anticipation of Manchester's work seems to go considerably beyond this.
Highly significant is the fact that a major magazine brought the serializing rights to the story for more than six times the price paid to Sorensen and Schlesinger for their respected, well-received undertakings.

This huge payment would not have been made for even the most immediate of instant histories, or for simply a thorowly organized, dramatically written re-recital of the central events surrounding the assassination.

The magazine rights were bid so high because the bidders deemed the reader market great enough to bear the cost. It was judged, no doubt rightly, that the American people and millions abroad have an insatiable appetite for personal detail, for intrigue, for feuding and other conflict, indeed, for just plain gossip, as it affects the lives of high public figures—and particularly the late John Kennedy, his family, and his successor, Lyndon Johnson.

Perhaps it has always been so.
Certainly, in this current instance, there should be no pretense that it is not the case.
From the publishers there was too much self-serving nonsense about the "people's right to know," when what was most at issue in the dispute between them and Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy were many of her highly personal revelations and reactions which have little if anything to do with illuminating the assassination story.

That these intimate details will now be bootlegged or otherwise printed by foreign publishers only underscores the point. The market for such details — even when not authentic — is immense, as the so-called "movie fan" magazines discovered long ago in their undying, successful exploitation of popular interest in Mrs. Kennedy.

This aspect of the interest in the Manchester book should not be thrust aside merely because neither the Kennedys nor anyone else involved in the dispute exactly covered themselves with glory as it was acted out. It is clearly a work which, clandestinely if no other way, will feed racy appetites.

Because instant history captures human recollection while it is fresh, historians believe in it, though they recognize that its writing can become an element itself in the larger sweep of real history—and sometimes create or perpetuate myths with harmful effect to persons or events.

What the Manchester work may generate is a more thoughtful concern for separating the genuinely useful materials of history from exciting, private matters which have only glancing effect upon the course of events.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Nobody knows how much a Congressman costs. Nor how much he is worth. Two years ago, both Houses voted themselves a raise in salary from $22,500 to $30,000 — a thirty percent increase. At the same time, they demanded that the Johnson Administration hold the rest of us to 5% or less in increment in their gallant fight against inflation.

There are 435 members of the House at $30,000 each. This comes to $13,050,000. A hundred Senators cost $3,000,000.
Thoughtfully, the 535 patriots gave themselves $3,000 of this tax exempt. The Representatives average seven assistants each.
Their salaries may range from $4,000 up to $20,000 a piece, but let us take $6,000 as an average.
That comes to $42,000 a year in hired help for each Congressman.

A United States Senator is more important, and he averages 15 assistants. It is said that Senator Robert F. Kennedy has 39 assistants, but he is rich enough to pay some of it out of his father's trust funds. Fifteen assistants would run the taxpayers' bill up $80,000 per Senator. Add his salary and the cost to you is $120,000.

All of them repose in the Sam Rayburn Building. This, per cubic foot, is the most expensive structure in the world — so high that Congress has never permitted the figure to be published.
Every member gets a suite of rooms free, with free furnishings, free lighting, heat, office supplies and a post office franking privilege.

U. S. Senators get free haircuts. M.P.'s pay 75 cents as an act of humility. There are free gymnasiums, steam baths and massages. Senators even get free snuff and a product called Mountain Valley Water. Members of both houses avail themselves of nominal cost hospitalization at Walter Reed and Bethesda. Some are the valiant who led the fight against Medicare for the aged.

A few enjoy free dentistry too.
There are four physicians on hand in the Capitol in case a Congressman wants a free aspirin. Then, too, all Congressmen get a mileage allowance for going home and per diem for hotels.

Jack Anderson, a disarming gentleman, has written a book which will be published next week. He is a fact surgeon, cutting away the lies, the innuendos, the exaggerations of life in the capital to expose the abscesses and malignant growths.

In "Washington Expose," Anderson does not detail the cost of a Congressman, but he has an entire chapter devoted to their vacations at public expense. The projected probe of Adam Clayton Powell's peccadillo is but one of a dozen that most legislators privately deplore and publicly condone.

See Bid to Newsman as Sign North Ready to Negotiate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — North Vietnam is beginning to feel the pinch and is ready to negotiate peace. This is the conclusion that may logically be drawn from the fact that the Hanoi government invited a New York Times correspondent to come to the capital and talk about peace in a specially arranged interview with the premier.

Undoubtedly North Vietnam has been badly hurt by the recent bombings and knows that a continuance of the destruction could result in internal revolution.

Naturally, the premier didn't speak in a crestfallen manner but, on the contrary, sought to give an impression of forceful-ness and strength. Reading between the lines, however, one can see that there has been a turn of the tide. The premier, for instance, emphasized that the four points Hanoi recently announced for ending the war should not, after all, be construed as "conditions" for peace talks but merely "valid conclusions for discussions."

Indicated Ways
An analysis of the comments made to Harrison Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the New York Times, shows that, even while discussing the four main points which hitherto have been regarded as prerequisites for peace, Premier Dong indicated ways by which concessions could be made. Thus, for instance, he recognized that it would be difficult for the United States to accept the idea of dealing with the Communist-led "National Liberation Front," which is the political arm of the Vietcong in South Vietnam. He said that this is a subject for "discussion," and that actual reunification in Vietnam could not be expected to be a sudden process. The premier insisted there is no intention in the north to annex the south. He added:

"We will consider this among ourselves. We will settle it by the most convenient means.
There's no rush about it."

The implication is that, once the United States and its allies withdraw, reunification would come after the natural pressures between sections and groups inside Vietnam are exerted. It is clearly evident that the North Vietnamese Premier is anxious to get American forces out of Vietnam as soon as possible and is willing to make concessions to accomplish this purpose. He declared that North Vietnam is prepared to fight 10 or 20 or any number of years to maintain its "sovereignty and independence," but he also remarked that frank talk is a good thing and is essential to understanding. He said:

"If we do not agree today, we will agree tomorrow."

Just why would the Premier of North Vietnam be willing to give such an interview to one of the important newspapers in the United States when he could readily pass on his thoughts in private through diplomatic channels? The answer is that he believed it would be a better means of influencing world opinion and would furnish at least a way of rebutting the unfavorable impression that has developed because of the official rejection by Hanoi of the proposals for peace talks made by the British Prime Minister a few days ago.

Wants Peace

North Vietnam wants peace—but on its own terms. This doesn't however, mean that some formula for settlement would not be accepted. As a matter of fact, the coming four-day truce later this month — which might even become a seven-day truce—affords an opportunity for the very kind of discussion the premier was talking about in his newspaper interview.

The upshot of it all could be a Korean-type of cease-fire or armistice. Many people may have forgotten that there was no peace treaty in Korea and that only an armistice was put into effect, with either side free to resume the fighting at will.
Though nearly 14 years have elapsed since the Korean cease-fire, no peace agreement or treaty has ever been consummated.

There seems no doubt Secretary-General Thant of the United Nations is also active in pressing for a peace conference. While the peace climate blows hot and cold, there are signs that North Vietnam is feeling the devastating effects of the war being waged by the armed forces of the United States and its allies.

Some kind of climax, therefore, in the Vietnam situation, looking toward negotiation of a cease-fire or armistice, may come in the not-far-distant future.

Cut Your Own Taxes

Figure Tax Closely On Rented Property

By RAY DE CRANE

If you are a landlord, not all of the rent you receive yearly is taxable. It is possible, in fact, to show a net loss from the operation of rental property and to deduct this loss from other income.

In general, charges offsetting gross rental income include depreciation, repairs and other expenses.

Depreciation enables you to recover your investment in the property over its useful life. The depreciation allowance is based upon the cost of the building, with the cost of the land excluded from consideration.

For illustrative purposes, assume one-half of a two-family home costing $35,000 ($30,000 for the building, $5,000 for the land) was rented all last year for $175 a month. Here is how the various charges would be used to offset the $2,100 gross rents.

Internal Revenue Service puts the useful life of a new frame home at 40 years. This provides an annual depreciation allowance of 2½ per cent. Since no depreciation is permitted on the living quarters of the owner, the 2½ per cent rate is based upon the $15,000 value of the tenant's suite. This produces an annual rate of $375. This is the first write-off against the gross rental income.

What were the repair expenses for last year? Here is a typical allowance:

Plumbing	18.50
Carpentry	47.25
Decorate tenant's suite	272.00
	$664.50

Repairs that benefit the entire home are taken at 50 per cent. Repairs for the exclusive benefit of the tenant's quarters are considered at 100 per cent.

There generally are other expenses in connection with the rental property. A statement attached to your return might contain such items as:

One-half real estate taxes	$310.00
One-half interest	225.00
One-half mortgage landscaping	40.00
One-half water charges	28.75
One-half fire insurance	33.00
	$636.75

The other half of the real estate taxes and mortgage interest would be included in the taxpayer's itemized deductions on Form 1040. The remaining half of the last three items, being personal expenses, would not be deductible on his return.

Depreciation, repairs and other expenses total $1,676.25. When deducted from the $2,100 gross rental income a net of $423.75 is produced.

One-half exterior painting	$300.00
Furnace repair	26.75

Expert Fails on Easy Hand

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Only a great expert could manage this hand to get himself set at four spades. West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen. East overtook with the ace and cashed the jack. West discarded the nine of diamonds and East led the jack.

The ordinary South player would waste no time running off the rest of the tricks. He would win the diamond, play the ace and king of trumps, cash the other high diamond, ruff his low diamond with dummy's last trump, return to his hand with the ace of hearts and show his hand.

Expert South didn't take this simple view of the hand. He had noted that East had shown up with five clubs and West with only two. South decided that the chances were that East would hold one spade and West three. In that case the odds would be three to one that West would hold the queen.

In ordinary circumstances South could guard against the singleton queen in the East hand by playing his king of spades and continuing with the jack for a finesse.

The trouble with this line of play would be that all North's three trumps would be used up that way and that South would be left with a losing diamond. Therefore Smith decided to lead his jack of spades and let it ride for an immediate finesse. This would give him a chance to have his cake and eat it also.

South tried this play and East made his singleton queen of trumps.

KINGSTON, N. Y.

Deposits Made On or Before January 10
Earn Interest-Dividends From January 1.

In Our Book You Come First!

*Passbook Savings

(ADVANTAGES)

Every $1 earns interest-dividends from date of deposit

You can put your money to work immediately.

No need to wait until you have accumulated a certain minimum amount to buy a certificate. You can get a passbook with an initial deposit of as little as $1.

Add any amount from $1 to your savings account at any time — to a maximum of $25,000 in individual accounts, $50,000 in joint or trust accounts.

No dealing in "multiples."

No installments to meet.

Interest is compounded quarterly

Interest-dividends are added to your account at the end of each March, June, September and December — and then these dividends themselves begin to earn interest for the next quarter. The result:

$1,000 deposited at 5% per year, compounded quarterly and maintained for one year will earn a total of 5.09%, or $50.94 for the year.

... if maintained for three years, it will earn $160.76 or an average of 5.36% a year.

... and when maintained for five years, it will earn a total of $282.04 or an average of 5.64% a year.

And credited quarterly

No matter when during a quarter you make a deposit, interest on each dollar from date of deposit is credited to your account at the end of each quarter. Then, if necessary, you can withdraw your savings including interest, or any portion of it without penalty.

Your money is immediately available

Just sign a withdrawal form, bring or mail it with your passbook to the bank, and receive your money anytime you want it. Again, no need to deal in multiples ... you can withdraw any amount from $1.

Outlines $6 Million D&amp;H Improvements

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Delaware & Hudson Railroad has outlined a $6-million capital improvement program that includes new equipment and the expansion of its operation in New York State and Pennsylvania.

John P. Hiltz Jr., president of the railroad, said Thursday the program was drafted by 100 officials and supervisory employees of the carrier at a recent two-day meeting.

Hiltz said the new equipment would include six, 3,000-horsepower diesel — electric locomotives, to be purchased from the General Electric Co., and 200 boxcars.

In addition, Hiltz said the railroad planned to expand its runs in this state and northern Pennsylvania.

Draws 2 1/2-5 Term On Weapons Charges

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Sandy L. Reed, accused in the fatal shooting of another man, has drawn a 2 1/2- to 5-year prison term on two weapons charges and a suspended sentence for manslaughter.

Judge John V. Hogan sentenced Reed Thursday in Niagara County Court and directed that the sentences on the weapons charges, for illegal possession of a submachine gun and a loaded Luger pistol, be served concurrently.

He suspended a sentence of five to seven years on Reed's plea of guilty to second-degree manslaughter.

Reed, 31, of Niagara Falls, was arrested on a charge of first-degree murder after James Smith, 25, also of Niagara Falls, died of bullet wounds in a hospital last Aug. 12.

Say Assembly Speaker Travia Leads Field as Head of State Convention

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia was reported today to have gained the inside track in competition for the highly coveted post of chairman of the State Constitutional Convention.

Informed sources in the Democratic party said Travia appeared to have lined up sufficient support to corral the chairmanship, barring a sudden reversal of fortune.

Democrats will have majority control of the convention and thus will be able to dictate the election of its chairman when the body convenes in Albany on April 4 to begin remodeling the State Constitution.

The chairmanship is greatly prized within political circles, since it may be assumed that the convention's presiding officer will loom large in the public eye. Politicians look upon the post as an opportunity to demonstrate leadership qualities that could pave the way for advancement to higher office.

Travia, a 55-year-old lawyer from Brooklyn, is said to be interested in running for governor in 1970. The convention chairmanship could serve as a springboard for that purpose.

Another prominent Democrat mentioned for the chairmanship, New York's former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, is assumed to have similar ambitions. There has been speculation also that Wagner might wish to run for the U.S. Senate in 1968 if incumbent Jacob K. Javits achieves his goal — the GOP vice presidential nomination.

Others who have been regarded as possible choices for the chairmanship are Charles S. Desmond of Buffalo, who retired last week as chief judge of the Court of Appeals, and William vanden Heuvel, a Manhattan attorney who has been a close associate of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Two Lack Strength

The Democratic party sources said that neither Wagner nor Desmond appeared to have sufficient strength to derail Travia's drive for the post.

Any bid by vanden Heuvel would depend almost entirely on his receiving strong support from Kennedy. But the sources said Kennedy was eager to avoid any impression that he would try to dictate the choice to the convention.

At the same time, Kennedy was said to be aware of Travia's out-front position and to have given at least tacit approval to the speaker's candidacy.

Party leaders have indicated that they would try to settle the chairmanship question as quickly as possible — perhaps this month — so that planning for the convention could proceed.

Travia declared his desire for the chairmanship shortly after the Nov. 8 election and has been actively lining up commitments from party leaders and individual delegates.

Travia's position as the Legislature's ranking Democrat, giving him decisive control over major legislation, afforded him a definite advantage over the other aspirants, who hold no public office.

Dies of Injuries

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Cherylene Bartholomew, 20, of Lacona, near Oswego, died today in Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 11 in a traffic accident in Oswego that claimed the life of another woman.

Killed when their automobile struck a tree was Miss Judy Schellenberg, 20, of Pulaski.

Miss Bartholomew had been in a coma since the crash.

Slowdown Points Away From Tax Hike at Present

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are mounting that President Johnson may not ask for a tax increase, at least for the present, to help finance the Vietnam war.

If this proves the case, however, it's also unlikely the administration would rule out a tax increase completely.

Wait-See Favored

The more logical course in such a situation, officials said, would be to retain the wait-and-see attitude adopted by the administration during 1966 — hold the door open to a tax increase from month to month while watching economic developments and budget figures closely.

But the decision on a tax increase is still President Johnson's and the last word from him was that he hadn't made up his mind.

The slowdown in the economy is but one major factor pointing away from a possible tax hike.

It was learned Thursday that congressional leaders are drawing up their schedule for the new session on the assumption that no request for a tax boost will come from the President.

Even Soundings Missing

Even the informal soundings which usually come from the White House to lay the groundwork for major legislation are missing now.

Congress last year passed a tax adjustment act in only two months but that involved no change in personal income or corporate tax rates, only a change in collection procedures and the reimposition of some excise taxes.

With economic pressure now lessened, the congressional climate may not be as favorable for a presidential tax request as it might have been last year. On the other hand, last year was an election year and 1967 is not.

Smith, Schantz, Claude Bell and William B. Martin.

Friends may call at the funeral home today 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

In detail the steps being taken to restore the system to an acceptable level of picture quality.

Two-Phase Project

The joint statement noted that the system renovation is a "very extensive undertaking" and will be done in two phases.

The first phase, already underway, involves a survey of the entire system, repairing and overhauling the amplifiers and replacing cable and couplings where necessary.

Phase 2, the permanent correction of the problem, started in September when it was contracted to have the complete Kingston system retraced and a detailed plan drawn of the existing system.

Halt 2 Escapees

BERLIN (AP) — Gunfire from border guards halted two men escaping from East Germany early today and they were captured, West Berlin police reported. It was the first attempt to flee to West Berlin reported this year.

It was not known if either man was injured.

Ulster . . .

Consultant Manuel E. Emanuel, Warren Travers, P. E., transportation and traffic engineer; Joseph Cromie, president of the Town of Ulster Businessmen's Association; Attorney Louis DiDonna; David Gruberg, president of the Ulster Teachers Union; and members of the Business Men's Association, all of whom voiced their opposition to the present plan.

As a result of the meeting in Albany it was learned that the State would recognize an alternate plan to keep Route 9W from becoming in effect a "dead-end" highway.

Getting Closer To Negotiations Every Day: Ky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is insisting upon assurances of Communist de-escalation as the price for any halt to bombing of North Vietnam.

And in Saigon, South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today, "We are getting closer to negotiations every day" to end the Vietnam war.

Ky did not specify when he thought peace talks might come or if his government had received feelers from North Vietnam. "Negotiations mean victory for us," he told newsmen. "It means we have kept our freedom intact. It means they (North Vietnam) recognize they cannot win."

In Washington, the State Department reiterated U.S. policy after a Hanoi diplomat hinted in a Paris speech that an unconditional halt in bombing of North Vietnam might lead to peace talks.

Mai Van Bo, head of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris, said the United States had no right to require any reciprocal move from the Communists in exchange for a halt in bombing. But if the bombing stopped, he said, and the United States followed with a proposal for peace talks, "I believe this proposal would be examined and studied."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "Our position has been repeatedly made clear. We are prepared to have talks without any conditions with North Vietnam at any time."

"We are prepared to order a cessation of all bombing of North Vietnam the moment we are assured, privately or otherwise, that this step will be answered promptly by a corresponding and appropriate de-escalation on the other side."

"This could occur before talks started or could be the first order of business in such talks," McCloskey said he did not regard the statement as a peace feeler.

Attitude Prompts Action

It was this attitude by the State that prompted the town board Thursday night to take action on submission of a revised plan, and the engagement of Travers to make the study and prepare an alternate plan.

The board received two requests for additional street lights, one in the East Kingston Light District and one in the Whittier Light District. The request will be studied by the board.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the Town Highway Superintendent to install a "Full turn" sign on Vestal Drive in the Whittier Development where the street enters Route 32.

Purchase of a street sweeper has been under investigation by the town board for some time. Authorization was given the Town Highway Superintendent to prepare specifications and advertise for purchase of a sweeper. The method now in use involves the employment of all highway employees in a spring sweeping program in the town. It is felt that the purchase of a sweeper will relieve many of the highway employees for other work, that use of a sweeper will be less costly and the streets can be swept more frequently.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz was authorized to make a study of the New York State Retirement System as proposed for employment in the town. Before an agreement can be reached an evaluation of the program must be made to ascertain the cost. The plan calls for a town and employee participation of payments.

Regrets Loss of Life

"We regret all the loss of life and property that this conflict entails. . . ."

"And the sooner this conflict can be settled, the happier we and the Vietnamese people will be."

Meantime, we shall continue to do what is necessary to protect the vital interests of the United States, to stand by our allies in Asia and to work with all our energy for a peaceful, secure and prosperous Southeast Asia. Only by meeting these commitments can we keep on this small and vulnerable planet the minimum conditions for peace and order."

The Hanoi statement was preceded by complaints that some newspapers and broadcasts in "capitalist nations" had distorted the premier's statements, but no specific instance of distortion was given.

The broadcast said: "On this matter the Vietnam news agency has been authorized to make the following statement: The original text of what Premier Pham Van Dong told Mr. Harrison Salisbury was, 'The position of the four points of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam is a basis of ways to settle Vietnam problems.'"

Premier Dong's original statement was interpreted by some news outlets to mean a measure of retreat from the hard line, all-or-nothing stand of the four points which have been the main obstacles to negotiations. He was quoted as saying the four points were not necessarily preconditions to talks.

The four points include demands that the United States withdraw all its troops and installations from South Vietnam, recognize the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Vietnam, and all acts of war against the north and permit settlement by the Vietnamese themselves, without foreign interference, "in accordance with the program" of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong in the south.

Teachers Quit Eight Chicago Junior Colleges

CHICAGO (AP) — A teachers union went on strike today against Chicago's eight junior colleges—three days ahead of a walkout scheduled against the city's public elementary and high schools.

The Cook County College Teachers Union started picketing a and a spokesman for the public junior college system said half to two-thirds of the faculty members were absent today. Some students, as well as teachers, he added, are crossing picket lines.

All Campuses Open

"All campuses are open," the spokesman told The Associated Press. "They will remain open throughout the day."

The union says 500 of the 684 instructors are members.

Local 1600, Cook County College Teachers Union, authorized its midnight walkout Thursday, the Chicago Teachers Union voted unanimously to strike every grammar and high school in the city Monday.

The junior college strike affects about 36,000 students.

But a strike by the 13,500-member Chicago Teachers Union would affect more than 570,000 pupils in 550 public schools.

The CTU predicted that many of the system's 8,500 nonunion teachers also would strike.

A CTU official said the union's strike committee would meet today, but he added that the Board of Education also had scheduled a meeting. Asked if that meant the dispute might be settled before the Monday strike deadline, he replied, "There's always a chance."

Relates Account Of Copter Rescue Off Mt. Sherman

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — "The best thing about my birthday is that I'll be alive," said Lorraine Rosenzren, who will be 48 Saturday.

"I can't help but smile," she said Thursday as she looked up from the cast covering her broken left arm.

One of Five

Mrs. Rosenzren was one of five persons, including her husband, Orville, 50, and the couple's son, John, 25, who were rescued by a helicopter from the windswept slopes of 14,037-foot Mt. Sherman.

They survived a night of 30-below-zero temperatures, blowing snow and howling winds after their chartered twin-engine Cessna ran into heavy overcast, hit some severe downdrafts and plowed into the mountain.

"We were lucky to come out alive," said Rosenzren, an avid skier who raises prize quarter horses on his farm near St. Charles, Ill. "We had two bottles of Scotch with us that helped us to withstand the cold. It got down to at least 30 below zero. I couldn't have lasted much longer."

Rosenzren and his son suffered bruised, Charles Budde, 22, of St. Charles, a family friend, suffered a dislocated shoulder which was put back in place by the others during the 20 hours they remained alone on the mountain.

Escaped Injury

The pilot, Gifford Williamson, 62, of Denver, escaped injury.

The helicopter that made the rescue was piloted by Bob Greene, 35, of Broomfield, Colo., a employee of the Public Service Co. of Colorado.

Greene was on a routine flight checking power lines over the mountains when he heard a radio call asking if there was a helicopter in the area.

"One plane had spotted the downed aircraft," said Greene. "We were able to fly right up the ridge pretty much directly to him."

Greene made two trips to bring all five down to the heliport at Leadville.

Car Located

A car owned by Henry Cragan Jr., 31, of 58 Montrose Avenue, stoilen from Cornell Street, Thursday, was reported located in the parking lot of Maverick Inn, Route 28, Glenford by state police. Local police noted report of the theft at 6:55 p. m. Recovery was reported several hours later.

"We regret all the loss of life and property that this conflict entails. . . ."

Meantime, we shall continue to do what is necessary to protect the vital interests of the United States, to stand by our allies in Asia and to work with all our energy for a peaceful, secure and prosperous Southeast Asia. Only by meeting these commitments can we keep on this small and vulnerable planet the minimum conditions for peace and order."

The Hanoi statement was preceded by complaints that some newspapers and broadcasts in "capitalist nations" had distorted the premier's statements, but no specific instance of distortion was given.

The broadcast said: "On this matter the Vietnam news agency has been authorized to make the following statement: The original text of what Premier Pham Van Dong told Mr. Harrison Salisbury was, 'The position of the four points of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam is a basis of ways to settle Vietnam problems.'"

Premier Dong's original statement was interpreted by some news outlets to mean a measure of retreat from the hard line, all-or-nothing stand of the four points which have been the main obstacles to negotiations. He was quoted as saying the four points were not necessarily preconditions to talks.

The four points include demands that the United States withdraw all its troops and installations from South Vietnam, recognize the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Vietnam, and all acts of war against the north and permit settlement by the Vietnamese themselves, without foreign interference, "in accordance with the program" of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong in the south.

Reviewing System

In addition, a consultant from an amplifier manufacturing firm is presently in Kingston reviewing the distribution system to determine what re-engineering might be required. A top engineer from the NBC staff has been assigned to Kingston not only to work on Phase 1, but to coordinate the activities of consultants and draw up a complete engineering plan for permanent improvements. Phase 2 will include additional replacement of cable, possible replacement of some amplifiers and re-spacing of existing amplifiers.

As of this date, Cablevision has completed the repair of the amplifiers along the trunk from the antenna site to the city of Kingston. It was noted that this has already provided considerable improvement in picture quality.

To Take Several Months

To cover the seven-mile trunk line has taken about six weeks. The entire system contains 150 miles of cable. To do the work will not be rushed, as it is necessary to locate and correct each problem as work progresses. Cablevision officials said it will take several months to cover the entire system completely, but since the trunk is the most vital link in the Kingston system, general picture improvement will be noted in most areas of the city immediately.

constable, the constable on active duty, to carry and issue traffic violation tickets where he observed a violation. In the past it has not been the custom for the constable on duty to carry and issue tickets for traffic violations.

The town board will also enter into agreement with the Town of Ulster Library Association for payment of town funds on a yearly basis toward support and maintenance of the Town of Ulster Free Library.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz was authorized by the town board to meet with Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan Jan. 10 to discuss a plan for possible purchase of land from the Kingston Water Department for the outlying Spring Lake area of the town where it is alleged the water supply has become polluted.

Two Vehicles Damaged

Two vehicles were badly damaged when a car operated by Dr. Jeffrey Westrum, Box 45, Route 1, New Paltz, and a pickup truck operated by Earl L. Kellerhouse of Box 4-A, West Hurley, were involved in an accident on Route 32 at Bloomington. Deputy Sheriffs Gerald Miller and Warren Swarthout investigated and reported Dr. Westrum was headed north on Route 32 when his car was in collision with the Kellerhouse vehicle which was turning from Route 32 to a driveway. The Kellerhouse car was struck on the right side. The accident took place at about 8:50 a. m.

Violation Reported

Parents, who allegedly had not sent two children to school were booked by local police Thursday and the other today for violating a section of the Education Law. They are Eugene, 37, and Edna Frederick, 29, of 189 Fairview Avenue. The children reportedly involved were said to be seven and nine years old. City Judge Hubert A. Richter today put the case over to Tuesday so that it may be determined whether the children are returned to school. The mother was released in lieu of recognizance pending next appearance and bail of $250 fixed for the husband was not immediately posted.

Unexcused Visit

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — After an automobile crashed into her home early today, Mrs. Martha Dayton, an 80-year-old widow, walked to a telephone and calmly reported the accident. Monroe County deputy sheriffs said.

They said Mrs. Dayton was in an upstairs bedroom preparing to retire when the car smashed the front porch of her home in suburban Penfield, careened into the living room and then fell through the floor to the basement.

Deputies said Mrs. Dayton descended to the first floor saw the car's trunk protruding through the floor and called the sheriff's office. She was not injured.

List Jan. Date For Jackie's Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Trial of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's suit against Harper & Row to block publication of the book, "The Death of a President," has been set for Jan. 18. Observers close to the dispute still expect, however, that it will be settled out of court.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit set the date Thursday after author William Manchester and Harper & Row filed separate but similar answers to Mrs. Kennedy's suit. Streit had said last week he would hear the case against Manchester on Jan. 16.

Herzberg also appointed Frank Appelton to conduct a separate investigation into the case. Appelton, now a Columbia County probation officer, is a retired member of the State Police's Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Herzberg said he favored the adoption on the basis of recommendations by the two independent investigators.

Assault Charged

A third degree assault charge was lodged against Ulysses Sam Young, 53, of 60 Franklin Street, Thursday. Edward Lyman, of 608 Broadway, was listed as complainant and the arrest was by Officers Richard Scherer and Curtis VanDemark. City court hearing was put over today to Jan. 9.

Car Recovered

At 3:30 a. m. today the sheriff's department was notified that a car of Harry Bareika, 279 Lucas Avenue, owned by the Syracuse Truck Sales Corporation of 1120 East Erie Street, Syracuse, had been stolen from Maverick Inn. The car was later recovered by Deputy Sheriff J. Walsh.

Plan Use of Sun Power in Journey To Distant Space

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — To reach the stars, man may ride a sunbeam, says a research engineer.

John H. Bloomer, 32, who works on computers and design for Philco Corp. in nearby Sunnyvale, tells how it may happen one day.

A giant mirror will collect solar energy to power a spacecraft across 25 trillion miles of void to Alpha Centauri, the sun's nearest stellar neighbor. The trip—one way—will take 17 years.

Bloomer's theories may seem far out, even to astronauts busy working toward their first baby steps across space to the moon, a mere 240,000 miles away.

Interested Scientists

But there is sufficient interest in his theories that he was asked to fill in the International Astronautical Federation on the subject during their October congress in Madrid, Spain.

Bloomer's ideas for harnessing sunbeams for power, as presented in Madrid, could have widespread implications for earthlings who will never enter a spacecraft.

Possibilities, Bloomer says, are using the space mirror to furnish all the earth's energy needs without air, ground or water pollution.

But possibilities for deep space travel are at the core of Bloomer's calculations. Alpha Centauri's distance is so great it is measured in light years—how far light, at 186,000 miles a second, will travel in a year. That's about six trillion miles, the "neighbor" star is 4.3 light years away.

Rockets Primitive

Chemical rocket propulsion such as we use today to explore within our own sun system is far too primitive to be considered for interstellar travel, Bloomer says. He describes a propulsion system that is new, "yet lying strictly within the bounds of known mechanics and engineering."

The key, he said in an interview is a system of vast mirrors and lenses orbiting the sun and working in conjunction with a very large laser.

A 60-mile-diameter plastic mirror with a reflective metal coating must be assembled in space to "ride behind" the earth in this planet's orbital path around the sun, Bloomer explains. At that mirror's center would be a mirror one mile across.

The larger mirror would collect solar energy and focus it into a mile-wide laser system orbiting 60 miles away. The laser could convert the "incoherent" or diffused sunlight into an extremely powerful concentrated beam of light.

Focused by remote control, the giant orbiting mirror and its liquid center would flash a beam toward a spacecraft driven by an ion motor, giving it a constant source of power.

46,000 Miles Per Second

The star-seeking spacecraft would be accelerated for 24 hours, says Bloomer, to about 46,000 miles a second, almost one-fourth the speed of light. The beam would be switched off when the spacecraft penetrated about 200 million miles of space on its 17-year voyage to Alpha Centauri. The vehicle would then coast the rest of the way.

He envisions sending first an unmanned fly-by spy to search for planets like the earth in the Alpha Centauri three-star system.

"We can send a probe to Alpha Centauri before the year 2099," says Bloomer.

Cellar Against Save 'Met' Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any attempt to save the old Metropolitan Opera House in New York City is misguided and should be opposed, says Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y.

The Congressman from Brooklyn made that observation in a letter Thursday to Democrat Anthony J. Travia, the Speaker of the New York State Assembly.

He asked Travia to oppose any legislative attempts to "preserve for sentimental reasons an ugly, outmoded, and by now, dilapidated building."

Celler told Travia he was writing to him "because you are a devotee of opera," as well as a Legislature.

The Congressman noted that the New York State Court of Appeals last week had declared unconstitutional a bill that would have prevented demolition of the building.

Adm. Beardall Dies, Ex-Annapolis Head

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Rear Adm. John Reginald Beardall, naval aide to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and former superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy, will be buried Monday in Arlington National Cemetery.

Beardall died at the Orlando Air Force Base hospital Wednesday night after suffering a stroke last month at his home in Winter Park, where he lived since 1958.

He was an aide to Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson from 1936 to 1939, a White House aide from 1941 to 1942, and superintendent of the Naval Academy from 1942 to 1945.

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Do you know how many hours the average housewife spends at her ironing board?

Add up your weeks hours and multiply them by the 52 weeks in each year, times the number of years you EXPECT to live...

You'll be amazed!

If you don't have an adjustable ironing board, why don't you run out and buy one? Or borrow or rent one from your neighbor, and try it out.

Once you have used an adjustable board, you won't be without one.

Common sense tells us it's easier to iron a garment while sitting down—with the iron below waistline height.

This takes far less energy than reaching up when sitting at a too-high ironing board, or standing up to iron.

If we spend five or 10 dollars on an adjustable ironing board, there's no reason to feel guilty. Look at the hours we spend there.

So, spend a few dollars on this treasure for yourself. You'll never be sorry.

Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Why is it??

My husband eats jelly like it's going out of style... until I buy a big, economy size, and that's going as slow as molasses in January!

Adelle J. Blumkamp

Dear Heloise:

Both my husband and I smoke, and either through instinct or training we are quite careful when we dump our ashtrays.

I assumed that everyone was equally careful, but have noticed how many people (especially non-smokers) throw still-warm stubs into the waste basket. This is especially true at parties, when ashtrays are filled rather quickly.

Perhaps an idea I copied from a friend will prevent a fire: When cleaning ashtrays, I dump their contents into a one-pound coffee can and leave them overnight. (Do not cover the can with a plastic lid—the smell will be unbearable.) In the morning, the cigarette stubs can be thrown away, with the assurance that they are cold and harmless.

"Smoker"

Dear Heloise:

After you have made contour sheets, try contouring the bottoms of your blankets also, especially for the children's beds.

Wonderful!

Hope this helps

Dear Heloise:

To give sparkle to mirrors, windows, glassware, etc., add a small amount of household ammonia to soap or detergent water.

It also acts as a grease-cutter, and loosens stubborn stains and oily dirt in work clothing.

Mary Ellen Jacobs

Dear Heloise:

My cast iron skillet is kept in good condition with the following treatment:

I season (before use) by greasing with shortening that contains NO salt.

I never use detergent on my skillet, and as little steel wool as possible. Just scalding hot water and a kitchen brush.

I keep my skillet stored in the oven. I place them there immediately after the oven has been in use, and the dry heat keeps them from rusting.

J. R.

Dear Heloise:

I cut clean half-gallon milk cartons short enough to fit into the freezer.

I slice ice cream into individual servings, wrap the slices in plastic wrap, and store them in the milk cartons with the open end of the cartons facing the front of the freezer.

Both storing and serving is simplified this way.

Gas Fells Workers, One Still Serious

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A workman, one of five overcome by carbon monoxide gas at the Republic Steel Corp. plant here, remained in serious condition today in the intensive-care section of Buffalo General Hospital.

The man, Lee Johns, 29, of Buffalo, and the others were felled Thursday night as they repaired a gas washer on a blast furnace in the southside plant, a Republic spokesman said.

Two of the workers were admitted to the hospital for observation, while the other two were treated and discharged. All are employed by the Furnco Construction Corp. of Buffalo, which was handling the repairs.

A gas washer is a large piece of equipment designed to purify gas generated in the production of iron.

Johns' address is 1897 Fillmore Ave. The plant is at 1175 South Park Ave.

Educator Gets Raise

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rochester's superintendent of schools, who reportedly rejected similar posts in such cities as Philadelphia and Detroit, has been awarded a new, six-year, contract carrying a $35,000 annual salary.

The city's Board of Education voted 3-1 Thursday to approve the pact, which will make Superintendent Herman R. Goldberg the highest paid public official in Monroe County.

The city operates 44 elementary and nine high schools, with an enrollment of about 45,000. Goldberg has headed the school system since June, 1963 at $27,500 a year. His first six-year contract, with 2½ years remaining was superseded by the new pact.

Dr. Louis A. Cerulli, board president, said a major purpose of the more lucrative contract was to "keep Herman Goldberg in Rochester."

Democrat Leaders To Hold Conclave In Albany Today

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Top state Democratic leaders, headed by U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, gathered here today to "give shape and direction" to the party for the next two years.

The schedule for the two-part meeting called for a conference among county chairmen in the morning and a general session among the county heads and the party's other top leaders in the afternoon.

State Chairman John J. Burns said Thursday a "wide range of topics" would be discussed at the meetings in the DeWitt Clinton Hotel.

Burns said the meeting was called in order to "give shape and direction" to the party, which has been beset by election losses and financial woes.

He added, however, that major developments were not likely and that the "meeting might be sort of anti-climactic." It has "no special significance other than its timing as the first since the recent gubernatorial election," Burns said.

In addition to Kennedy, other top Democratic leaders invited to the party were Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, Comptroller Arthur Levitt, Senate Minority Leader Joseph J. Zaretzki and Frank D. O'Connor, the party's unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate.

Also invited were former New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Howard J. Samuels, the party's candidate for lieutenant governor, and Percy Sutton, Manhattan borough president.

Sources within the party expect Kennedy to play a strong role in refurbishing the Democratic image.

Since he moved into the state and won a Senate seat two years ago, Kennedy has seen the Democrats lose the New York City mayoralty and the gubernatorial elections.

In addition, the party reportedly is financially strangled, and money matters, including plans for fund-raising dinners, are high on its agenda.

Woman, 44, Follows Daughter in Death

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 44-year-old woman, burned during a fire in which a daughter perished, died Thursday at Strong Memorial Hospital here.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith was one of six persons injured in the fire early Monday, which swept the family's home north of Canisteo, Steuben County. The daughter, Jill, 12, was asphyxiated, a coroner said.

Another daughter, Judy, 7, remained in critical condition today at the Rochester hospital.

Mrs. Smith's husband Franklin, 39; their son Jack, 9; Paul Mc Daniels, 19, a family friend; and Charles Hartman, a Canisteo volunteer fireman, suffered lesser injuries.

Say Pope's Plea Actual Offer of Papal Mediation

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI pleaded today for the leaders of Red China to "talk peace" with the Roman Catholic Church. Vatican sources said his appeal amounted to an offer of papal mediation in the Vietnam war.

The Pope spoke during a Mass he celebrated in St. Peter's Basilica to call attention to the plight of Christians in China whose priests and bishops have been expelled and jailed.

"We would like to talk peace with those who rule over contemporary China in the mainland," the pontiff said.

He did not mention mediation or Vietnam directly. But Vatican sources said he had in mind the rebuff last year when Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung reportedly refused to even take into his hand a letter from the Pope urging China's help in bringing about peace negotiations for Vietnam.

After his peace appeals at the start of 1966, Pope Paul sent letters to Washington, Moscow, Peking, Hanoi and Saigon. Washington, Moscow and Saigon were reported to have replied, although details of their answers were not made public. Peking and Hanoi did not.

Today the Pope said the Church wants to resume its contacts with the Chinese people.

He also expressed fears over what he called the "present exaltation" of Chinese youth.

"What would we like?" the Pope asked. "We say it simply: to resume contacts with the Chinese people on the mainland, contacts which were not broken by us voluntarily."

"We would like to resume contacts to let Chinese youth know with what trepidation and what affection we consider its present exaltation toward ideals of a new, laborious, prosperous and peaceful life."

It was at this point that the Pope said he wanted to talk peace with Red China's leaders.

Avert Breakup Of Nigeria, 4 Governors Agree

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The chief of Nigeria's central government said Thursday night that the breakup of Africa's most populous nation has been averted by the agreement he reached in Ghana with the country's four regional governors.

"Nigeria will definitely remain united," Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, the chairman of the Federal Military Council, said in Accra at the conclusion of the two-day constitutional conference.

Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the eastern region governor who had threatened to take his area out of the federation, termed the conference "a very big success." He said he was speaking for the other three regional chiefs.

KTF Asks Study

Education immediately reads: "The Kingston Teachers' Federation has made a request concerning the designation of one teacher organization to speak for the entire staff in Kingston. The KTA thus joins the KTF in urging a major change in the current employer-employee relationship. It is obvious that both organized teacher groups desire to establish a firm, new employer-employee relationship based on the recognition of an 'exclusive bargaining agent'."

"Although the KTA and KTF differ as to how the agent is to be chosen, we agree that something should be done. Before the Board of Education announces any final decision on the KTA request, we would like to offer a suggestion."

"Without rehearsing the KTF petition requests of the past two years, we are going to remind the Board of Education of the inner turmoil and strife that was characteristic of recent events in the Kingston City Schools Consolidated. Our troubles in Kingston played no small part in joggling the State Education Department into belated action. The State Education Department in cooperation with the Cornell School of Industrial and Labor Relations, and funded with federal money under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, is conducting a series of meetings across New York State."

"These meetings, already conducted in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica and Albany have proven worthwhile. A meeting will be scheduled for Poughkeepsie in January."

Asks Attendance

The KTF president urged board members to attend that session before making a final decision.

Outwater noted that several bills, including one drafted and vigorously supported by the New York State School Board Association, Inc., have been introduced for the 1967 session of the New York State Senate and Assembly. Furthermore, Outwater noted, more than a dozen states now have specific laws governing employer-employee relations in the public sector.

The KTF president said in his letter that it is the group's contention that the Board of Education has not had the opportunity to closely study these developments. "We feel that any decision in this area of employer-employee relations will have a long-lasting and far-reaching side effect on education within the school district," Outwater said.

He pointed out that the KTA and KTF have requested a change in the current employer-employee relationship. "These requests vary as to the mechanics of how an 'exclusive bargaining agent' is selected," Outwater said.

Requests Study

Outwater explained that the KTF suggests that the Board of Education authorize the proposed eight-member study group.

The KTF proposed that two members of the Board of Education, two members of the Kingston City School administrative staff, two members of the KTA and two members of KTF comprise the committee.

The KTF recommended that the president of the Board, superintendent of schools, and presidents of the KTA and KTF select the people to represent the respective groups. The KTF further recommended that members of the group be allowed to select alternates to cover for the absence of any originally appointed committee members, and also recommended that the committee study, in depth, how the KTA proposals and the KTF petition would function, and also study proposals before the 1967 State Legislature, and experience in other states with public employee bargaining laws, before a final decision of the school board is reached.

Sandburgh Marks 89th

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (AP) — There was no cake, no interview and no to-do for Carl Sandburgh today on the poet-biographer's 89th birthday.

A few friends were expected to drop by Connemara, Sandburgh's goat farm in this plateau country of the Blue Ridge Mountains, but nothing formal was planned.

"I won't eat cake so there's no sense in baking a birthday cake," said Paula, his wife, whom he married 38 years ago. "He never has liked cake or fancy things."

Cook Named Hose Co. Head; Finch Declines to Run

John Cook was elected president of the A. H. Wicks Hose Company Thursday night after Morton Finch, who held the post for three consecutive terms, declined to accept nomination.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Miller Locke, vice-president; Charles Reis, secretary; Howard Stephens, treasurer and the Revs. Albert Shultis and William J. McVey, chaplains. Membership also named Finch to a five-year term as director of the company and Edwin Schultz to a four-year term as director.

Line officers named at the meeting were Hartford Shultis Jr., captain; Lester Markle Jr., first lieutenant and John Jamieson, second lieutenant. Willis Elmdorf was named as custodian.

In other business members elected delegates to the New York State Association of Volunteer Firemen; the Hudson Valley Association of Volunteer Firemen; and the Ulster County Association of Volunteer Firemen.

Ten life members of the hose company were also honored at the session.

Slate Newburgh Meet Wednesday For Area Growers

Although there is a chill in the air, plans for next summer's market gardening and vegetable growing season will be discussed at a Market Garden and Vegetable Growers meeting for Hudson Valley producers next week in Newburgh.

William H. Palmer, Ulster County cooperative extension agent, has announced that the meeting will be held at the New York State Armory, Newburgh, on Wednesday, Jan. 11, from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The armory is located on South William Street, two blocks south of Broadway and a half block west of Route 9W.

The program will get under way at 10 a. m. when Robert Guzewich, Cooperative Extension agent in Ulster County, will speak on Promising Sweet Corn Varieties for 1967.

Following Guzewich and speaking from 10:15 to 11 a. m. will be George Woolley of the Ronson Helicopter Service, Inc., of Trenton, N. J. who will speak on Aerial Application of Farm Chemicals, Equipment, Costs, Methods and Problems.

The morning session will close with a discussion from 11 to 11:30 a. m. by Dr. Merrill Eisenbud, N.Y.U. School of Environmental Medicine working with the New York State Department of Health. He will discuss Agricultural Implications and Objectives of Present Studies of Hudson River Water Pollution.

There will be a lunch period from 11:30 to 1 p. m. to allow those attending to have a mid-day meal.

Resuming the meeting at 1 p. m. Dr. Robert Sweet, Department of Vegetable Crops, Cornell University, will devote the next 45 minutes to Vegetable Chemical Weed Control for 1967.

Melon Production Ideas From New Jersey, will be the topic of Norm Smith, Cooperative Extension Agent of Cumberland County, N. J., from 1:45 to 2:30 p. m.

Granular vs. Liquid Formulation Weed Control in Vegetables, will be discussed next by Dr. Robert Sweet and from 3 to 3:30 p. m. Norm Smith will speak on Some New Ideas, Varieties, Methods of Interest in Southeast New York Vegetable Production.

The session will adjourn at 3:30 p. m.

Salary Increases

The board approved salary increases for five teachers who have submitted evidence of having satisfactorily completed graduate work. The teachers and their new steps were, Joseph S. Bonita, 2-A-1-b plus $90; Douglas Chismore 5 A-1-c. Bernard E. Farrell 12 A-2-c. Ellen LaSalle 1 A-1-b and Rose Marie Strick 2 A-1-b.

Also approved last night was a resolution that special class teachers be paid a differential above their regular teachers' salaries as follows: $200 annually for all uncertified teachers and $300 annually for all teachers certified to teach special classes.

Resigns Defense Position, Leaves Hot Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur Sylvester, an exponent of the government's "right to lie" in case of national peril, leaves a trail of controversy as he steps down as chief spokesman for the far-flung defense establishment.

The White House announced the resignation of the ruddy-faced, affable Sylvester Thursday. President Johnson named Phil G. Goulding, 45, currently No. 2 man in the Pentagon news setup, as his successor.

Sylvester's unexpected departure from the pressure-packed role as the Defense Department's top information man immediately raised questions: Is he resigning because his boss, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, also may be about to quit?

Or is it because of the recent controversy over U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam civilians? Neither, said the one-time shipping clerk and former newsman.

"I'd just like to be my own man for a while," Sylvester said.

Officially, Sylvester, 65, is called assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, but he readily acknowledges being called other names during a sometimes stormy six years of directing the flow of official announcements from the Pentagon.

IRS Testing New Tax Form to Cut Figuring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regardless of whether U.S. taxpayers are hit with an income tax increase this year, there is a chance they will get some relief from the actual labor of figuring the tax to pay in future years.

The House Ways and Means Committee, it was learned today, has agreed to a Treasury request to consider later this year legislation for a simplified tax return that would abate some of the arithmetical agony of the April 15.

The Treasury is experimenting this year in the southeastern part of the country with an optional return form that would to some extent combine the actual return with the instructions for preparing it, so that a taxpayer, by answering a series of questions, would arrive at his tax liability.

Details of what may be proposed later this year apparently still are to be settled, but one source said, "We think we can cut a lot of lines out of old Form 1040."

The value of the U. S. tobacco crop averages more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in active trading early today, continuing its rally into the fourth straight session of the new year.

Blue chips and glamor stocks made strides as prices rose from the start.

Some optimistic news reports as well as a stronger technical condition in the market itself were cited as factors in the rise. Among news items were the 2-cents-a-pound price increase announced by Phelps Dodge, second largest U.S. producer of the metal.

Phelps Dodge advanced more than a point, Anaconda nearly 2 points, Kennecott close to a point.

All leading auto stocks rose fractionally. General Motors nearly a point.

IBM snorted more than 4. Up a point or better were Goodrich, Sears, Roebuck, Raytheon (ex dividend), Polaroid and Air Reduction.

General Motors opened on 10-300 shares, up ¼ at 11½. Du Pont opened on 3,200 shares, up 3½ at 156.

Opening blocks included: American Telephone, up ¼ at 55 on 6,000 shares; Chrysler, unchanged at 34 on 5,400; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ¼ at 63½ on 8,000.

Thursdays The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 4½ to 299.5.

Prices rose today on the American Stock Exchange, Zaprata Off-Shore gained about 3, Syntex and Molybdenum advanced about 1 each.

Asks Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Saturday, Dec. 31.

Kingston's water department, which recently completed a major water system improvement project is interested in another involving smaller city water lines, it was revealed at a Thursday night meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners.

The board has instructed its consulting engineers, Manganaro, Martin & Lincoln, of New York City, to investigate the feasibility of establishing a long range cleaning and lining of smaller mains.

This, it was noted, "would be in conformance with the recently adopted policy of the board to update and renovate the city's water system to modern standards."

Cost of the project recently completed by the Anthony Costanzi Corp., of Kingston, was reported at $475,979.55, and final payment was approved.

Work consisted of installation of some 30,000 feet of 8, 10, 14 and 16-inch water mains, 45 new gate valves and 43 modern type hydrants.

This work, in general, was done in conformance with 1961 recommendations by the National Board of Fire Underwriters following a survey by them, which indicated that parts of the city system were deficient in fire flow.

It is expected that a survey to be made by the national board in 1967 "will indicate the value of the recently completed contract."

Bids were opened for purchase of a one-half-ton pickup for use in the maintenance department. The bids were: Johnson Ford,

Say Mao's Wife, Ex-Aide Direct Purge in Peking

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's wife and his former political secretary seem to be directing the purge in Peking while Mao and his heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao, spend the winter in Shanghai, Japanese correspondents in Peking said today.

Mao's third wife, a former movie actress who uses the name Chiang Ching, was an obscure figure until last summer when the Red Guards suddenly appeared on the scene.

She is now vice chairman of the cultural revolution purge committee headed by Chen Po-ta, Mao's former secretary.

Japanese newsmen reported that with Mrs. Mao and Chen at the helm, Peking appears to be in a state of shock and bloody clashes between Red Guards and workers are on the increase throughout the country.

The most recent, and unexpected target of the pair was vice premier and party propaganda chief Tao Chu who had shot to prominence as one of Mao's closest aides in the cultural revolution.

Tao Chu was widely considered the regime's No. 4 man, next in influence to Mao, Lin Biao, and Premier Chou En-lai. His downfall from Mao's inner group is now almost definite, Japanese reporters said.

McCormack Seeks Formula to Solve Powell Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack sought today to hammer out a formula to resolve internal Democratic disputes over the status of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and the composition of the powerful Rules Committee.

The speaker declined to comment, however, on meetings Thursday with Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, the California Democrat trying to keep Powell from being seated, and a group of liberal Democrats who want to prevent Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., from becoming Rules Committee chairman.

The two issues have become somewhat interrelated, partially as a result of Rep. Richard Bolling's announcement he would try to deny seniority — and therefore chairmanships — of both Powell and Colmer. Powell heads the Education and Labor Committee.

Van Deerlin spent a short time with McCormack shortly after the speaker returned to Washington Thursday for the opening of the 90th Congress next Tuesday.

He said afterward the speaker was "most attentive" but gave no commitments and suggested no alternatives.

NEW SWING TOWARD FOREIGN CARS

BABSON PARK, Mass. Jan. 6 —Some executives of our own U. S. auto-manufacturing Big Three—General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford—have admitted that they expect another dip during 1967 in total output, which would mean the second consecutive year of lowering sales. Executives of firms importing foreign cars express no such doubts. Almost unanimously they predict that 1967 will be the second successive record-breaking year for their products. Does this mean a greater swing toward the purchase of foreign cars; and, if so, what is behind the switch in trend?

Basis for Divergent Predictions

The question may well have more than one answer, probably a number of answers. But the essential fact is that statistics already provide a reasonable basis for the contrast between the pessimism of domestic producers and the optimism of foreign car dealers. Taking November figures (latest available), it may be seen that foreign car sales have risen an impressive 10 per cent over those of a year ago. This compares dramatically with a decline of 7 per cent in domestic new car sales over the same period.

While it is true that foreign car turnover represents only about 8 per cent of the total market, there is something arresting about the fact that practically all the leading importers are chalkins up gains while all our biggest producers are registering declines. If it were a matter only of restlessness or watchful-waiting on the part of the consumer public, there is no reason why both domestic and foreign auto sales should not reflect the same weakening tendency.

Magnet: Smaller, Cheaper Car

As in the case of residential construction, tight money undoubtedly is having some adverse effect on the demand for larger, more expensive cars. The lowest-priced model made in this country is now the Rambler American, which goes for $2,073. But look at the price range for foreign models; eight out of the ten biggest-selling imported cars can be bought for less. And there are a couple of score of other foreign makes also below the Rambler American price range, even though not among those best known to the public.

In other words, the U.S. producers have once again outpriced themselves. This happened following 1959, when foreign cars set their previous record for sales, capturing more than 10% of the total market. At that time, Detroit recognized its lack of models at the lower end of the price scale and moved in with its "compacts." These caught the popular fancy to a considerable degree, but gradually became larger and more expensive. Now it appears that the situation has come full-circle: If a buyer wants a small, inexpensive car, he can do best, he is convinced, in the import field.

The momentum carrying sales of foreign cars upward has increased notably, and there is reason to believe that it will persist for some time to come. It is not, for example, purely the lower original cost that is helping the market for imported autos. When a family needs a car primarily for use by the housewife in shopping and for other short hauls, the woman often prefers a vehicle that is light, maneuverable, cheap to operate, and easy to park.

Then there is the question of glamor. If a man could easily afford a Cadillac, he is often as likely to buy himself instead a Mercedes-Benz or a Jaguar. The exotic flavor has appeal, and this has been partly instigated by our own effort to popularize the "sports car" image in such models as the Mustang, which caught on remarkably quickly. But, now, to be really different, many buyers feel that the foreign car is the thing, whether for economy purpose or for the kind of show-off of style found in the Jaguar.

Question is: Will Detroit try again to lure away some of this market with new, small, inexpensive sports models? Best guess is that the domestic auto makers won't, unless foreign-car sales once more move well above 10% of the market. Importers will be watching.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

It was only a year ago, Christmas of 1965, that Andy's Furniture store had a beautiful display on lower Broadway in the former Stock and Cordts Building. Wimpy's Bar and Grill on the same block always had beautiful holiday trimmings and a tree, and usually Mrs. Al Bailey decorated her upstairs apartment with lights, as did Mrs. Lottie Wood on the top floor, so that the entire building took on a holiday spirit. I think it was in February of 1966 that Wimpy's called it their last day in Broadway East. Years ago, downtown merchants used to have Christmas lights on the street, and even a trimmed tree, and a Santa Claus on the street. Now the water pipes have been removed from many of these buildings and the windows are wide open while the snow is on the ground. Years ago, there were local poets such as Abbey who would write a poem about all this, mentioning stores and what happened. Neighbors have been dispersed into other towns and sections and now and then one meets them in shopping centers for a quick conversation.

Going back to around 1893 there was a Troy Steam Laundry at 65 and 67 Union Avenue in Rondout. Union Avenue is now Broadway. I have a little billhead from which states that Wm. Weston, proprietor, Rondout N. Y. advised that the wagon will call and deliver work anywhere in the city free of charge. He charged for collars and cuffs two cents each. Shirts were 10 cents each, also night shirts. Stockings were 5 cents a pair. Handkerchiefs were 3 cents each. That little 1893 bill was on a sort of yellow tea paper about 4 and a half by 6 inches. The printing is excellent in heavy black ink. They wrote well and printed well in those days and their paper lasted.

I have another bill on lavender paper 8 and a half by 3 and a half, about the size of a large check. It is from the Kingston Electric Co. for gas consumed from May 1, 1893 to June 1, 1893. It was metered and some 2,800 "feet at $2.50 per thousand" were consumed. They allowed them a discount of 10 per cent on bills under 1,000 feet, and 20 per cent on bills of 1,000 feet and over. So from $7.00 they deducted $1.40 which left them $5.60. The last day of discount was June 10. This is all printed on the bill. I McCauland received payment for the company. They also mentioned in small print, "In case of a leak, or defective supply of gas, notify the office. We have no agents elsewhere. On the back of this bill there are three "clocks" on which there are hands or arrows (drawn in ink) showing the position of the meter handles. They also suggest: "Consumers can verify their bills by marking down on the blank index the position of the indicators, and compare with the statement as rendered on the face of the bill." That is the system used in Kingston some 73 years ago. At the time the Gas Company was also advertising on the back of the bill their gas cooking and heating stoves for all kinds of cooking, broiling and baking. I remember some time ago our local company sold appliances also.

A tax receipt for the City of Kingston, N. Y. of Feb. 10, 1893 was also interesting. It looks also like a large check and is signed by J. E. Phinney, treasurer. In Rondout, where business was excellent in those days, taxes for a business building ran around $15 per year. On the back of this receipt is an itemized budget. Total for city purposes was $131,704.34. One item reads: "For 25 per cent expense grading Stuyvesant St. was $359.26." They also list sums levied on Kingston by the Supervisors of Ulster County.

Order Implements Edict on Rhodesia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered American businessmen today to abide by United Nations economic sanctions against Rhodesia or face criminal penalties.

Johnson signed an executive order implementing a Dec. 16 resolution of the U.N. Security Council which will have the effect of ending 80 per cent or more of American imports from Rhodesia.

The order will have little or no effect on exports to that country, which ran afoul of the United Nations after its white minority government refused to agree to British demands for an early takeover of power by the Negro majority.

Exports to Rhodesia were virtually halted last spring under provisions of the Export Control Act.

Soechting Plans Sales Contest

Two "flyers" . . . a telegram and a live bird . . . was delivered this week to Jesse J. Soechting, president of J. J. Soechting Co., Inc., Albany Avenue Extension, to "sing out" about the big 1967 nationwide "Goal Buster Sales Contest" for United Van Lines agents. James R. Jolley, UVL's sales vice president, said that the special "Kwota-Maker" parade will serve as a constant reminder of the sales goals set for the local agent firms.

All 542 representatives of the worldwide household goods carrier firm across the country will receive news by Western Union messenger today of the 21-week "sky's the limit" competition. The contest begins Jan. 9. Details of the "Goal Buster" drive to stimulate greater and more competitive selling efforts will be mailed to agents this week. United is one of the Big 4 in the household goods moving industry.

There will be six flights in the competition, based on the booked volume of agents in 66, in which United's representatives can compete for more than 300 prizes ranging from trips to the firm's international convention to be held in Palm Springs, Calif. next November, to color television sets, special UVL jewelry and blazer jackets.

Achievements of the competitors will be judged on both the percentage increase they show as well as the dollar volume over quotas set for them by United, Jolley said.

Town Board Views Planning; Will Update All Ordinances

The 1967 organizational meeting of the Saugerties Town Board last Tuesday afternoon was brief, but was considered a fruitful session by those attending.

Although no major moves were made by Supervisor Peter Williams and board members, various matters which could ultimately effect town residents in considerable measure were discussed at some length.

Talk revolved primarily around action that will probably have to be taken before the present year has run its course. Among the possibilities looming in Saugerties future are the establishment of a Town Planning Board, to make the town a more orderly and attractive place in which to live.

The board is also considering action to require building permits in the future, a move which would also call for the appointment of a building inspector.

Trailer Changes

High on the list of priorities for 1967 is a review of all existing ordinances now in effect in the town. It is considered essential to make many necessary changes in these regulations and bring them up-to-date. One such ordinance which would be scrutinized is the trailer ordinance.

The board also hopes to set up a set of physical standards qualifications for all those serving on the town police force. The legality of taking such action will be explored thoroughly before any new regulations for special town policemen now serving or to be appointed in the future are laid down.

The first Thursday of each month has been designated as the date for regular monthly meetings of the board. The next meeting, therefore, is scheduled for Feb. 2.

Hamaty Elected To Rotary B of D

Attendance was down at this week's meeting of Rotary Club of Saugerties. Still, members attending went about the business of electing George Hamaty, newest member, to fill a vacancy on the Board of Directors for the remainder of the year.

Welcomes were extended to visiting Rotarians, Wayne Johnson of Nutley, N. J., and Ross Johnson of Kingston. News was relayed that Secretary Merlin Snyder was a patient in a Kingston hospital; announcement was made that the Rev. Orville J. Hine will be inducted into the club as a new member at the Jan. 17 meeting; and program chairman Cornelius Cox conducted the program for the evening.

Committee chairmen presented brief reports on the work of their committees and, from these, came many valuable suggestions for future sessions and for action to carry on committee work.

Terry Staples, attendance chairman, will call absent members to remind them of the all-important meeting next week; will distribute awards at that time to those with best attendance records during the past 13 weeks.

Dues are now being collected for the first half of 1967 and should be mailed at the earliest convenience to the secretary. It was also announced that Rotary Magazine Week is scheduled for Jan. 22-28 this year.

Reformed Church Will Install Consistory

Services at Reformed Church of Saugerties are held 9:45 and 11 a. m. Sunday with the Rev. Orville Jay Hine officiating.

A service of installation will be held Sunday during service for members of the consistory of the church. Newly elected to the office of Elder were Paul A. Modjeska and George A. Turner Jr.; Deacon, Charles E. Fous, Walter Karch and Terry Staples. Others serving on the consistory include Elders—James R. Abbott, C. James Reinhard, Cortland Van Ethen and Arthur D. York. Deacons include Clarence L. Bryden, Kenneth L. Kennedy and Richard D. Nash.

Sunday church school will meet at 9:45 a. m. in the chapel on John Street.

Junior choir meets Sunday at 9 a. m. for rehearsal.

Youth Choir will rehearse 7 p. m. Thursday and Senior Choir will meet 8 p. m. Thursday.

Junior Girl Scouts meet Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. in parish hall. Confirmation Class will meet 2 p. m. Wednesday in parish hall released time period from school.

Baptist Church

Regular mid-week prayer service and Bible study will be held in First Baptist Church of Saugerties next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend this service.

Sunday at 9:05 a. m., "Wonderful Word" broadcast will be heard over WGHQ. The pastor, the Rev. Brooks N. Henry, will continue a series of studies on "The Sermon on the Mount." At 9:45 a. m., Sunday school is held with classes for all ages through adult. At 11 a. m., morning worship service is held. The pastor will speak on Lost Things. Beginner and primary church are held during the sermon period. A nursery is also provided. At 6 p. m., Berean Youth Fellowship will meet; this is a training hour for all Junior and Senior High School young people. At 7 p. m., evening service is held. The pastor's sermon title is The Coming of the Lord—a Terror to the Unconverted. At 8:10 p. m., the choir will practice.

Monday at 7 p. m., Pioneer Girls will meet.

Tuesday at 7 p. m., Christian Service Brigade will meet.

Poverty, Affluence

Missions Commission of Saugerties Methodist Church is sponsoring a church-wide School of Missions based on the theme Poverty and Affluence. Meetings will be held four successive Sunday nights in January, beginning Jan. 8 from 5 to 7:30. Each session will be introduced by a film, film-strip, or play, followed by a sandwich supper from 5:45 to 6:30 and concluded with discussion groups from 6:30 to 7:30.

Grades 1 to 3 will study the book No Biscuits, grades 4 to 6, White Elephant; junior senior high will use Can't We All Be Rich?; and adult text will be Keepers of the Poor. Baby sitting will be provided for children of kindergarten age and younger.

Members of the Mission Commission hope for an enthusiastic response to what promises to be a stimulating and informative study.

Governor Announces Several Appointments

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller announced today the appointment of Walter F. Waring, chief of police at Lynbrook, as chairman of the Municipal Police Training Council.

Waring succeeds J. Henry Mock, of Nyack, whose term expired. Waring's term expires March 31, 1968.

Rockefeller appoints B. John Tutuska, sheriff of Erie County, to the council to fill the vacancy created by Waring's elevation to the chairmanship. Tutuska's term will also expire March 31, 1968.

In addition, the governor announced that he had reappointed Arthur Cornelius Jr., State Police superintendent, and John F. Malone, of New York City, to the Council, both for terms ending March 31, 1968.

Members of the council serve without salary.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

BERNARD SWEENEY

Will Speak Here On Bosses Night

John Spratt, president of Woodstock Jaycees, announced final plans for celebration of Jaycee Week in Woodstock at this month's meeting of the organization. The big week will be observed here from Jan. 15-21.

Spratt said Dominick Vancore of Shokan, and Paul DeLisio of Zena, directors of local Jaycees, will co-chair this festive and busy part of the Jaycee year.

First part of the celebration will be the signing of a proclamation of Jaycee Week by Woodstock Town Supervisor William R. West Jr., at ceremonies in Woodstock Town Hall early this month. Second part of the plans will be an all-out drive by Jaycees members to bring the Jaycee message to young men of Woodstock between the ages of 21-35 by displays around town and personal contact throughout the month of January.

Final part of the program will be a Bosses Night dinner at Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock, Jan. 18. All Jaycees this night will honor their bosses as guests for the dinner and hear the Jaycee story in Woodstock. Highlighting the evening will be the presentation of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award to some outstanding young man in the Woodstock area.

Spratt also announced the acceptance of Bernard Sweeney, State Jaycee president as main speaker at the banquet.

To start the ball rolling, Spratt gave an invitation to all young men in the Woodstock, Shokan and West Hurley area, between the ages of 21-35 to attend a Jaycee meeting to see the organization in action and find out just what Jaycees stand for and are doing in the community.

Exhibit Orban Work at Crespi

Woodstock artist Vera Orban's fourth one man show of places and people will go on view Jan. 23 at Crespi Gallery, 1045 Madison Avenue, near 79th Street, New York City. The exhibit will run through Feb. 4 and hours at the gallery are 12 noon to 6 p. m., Tuesday through Saturday.

A preview reception is slated Monday, Jan. 23 from 6 to 8 p. m.

The Orban show will include 24 oil paintings and a group of water colors. Some of the oils were executed in such far flung places as Bermuda, Norway, Boiceville, Antibes, St. Moritz and Montauk. Beach scenes will vie with restaurant interiors for wall space, and the Woodstock artist has captured glassblowers, bathers, shoppers, marchers and diners on her canvases.

Autograph Party For Van Zandt

The Catskill Book Shop, Inc., 35 Mill Hill Road, opposite Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock, will hold its second autograph party in less than a month on Saturday, Jan. 14, between 4 and 6 p. m. Honor guest at the party will be Roland Van Zandt, whose "The Catskill Mountain House" has just been published by Rutgers University Press.

The Van Zandt book is an elaborate historical document of the days when mountaintop hotels and boarding houses brought thousands of visitors and vacationers to the Catskill Mountains and Mid Hudson Valley.

Donald and Elise Talley, proprietors of the local book shop, cordially invite the public to attend the autograph party next week, just as they did to their recent, successful New Year's Eve autographing fete for contributors to Bluestone III, Woodstock's own quarterly magazine.

Tuesday Club Meeting

Tuesday Club of Woodstock will meet next Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in Christ's Lutheran Church hall, Mill Hill Road, for a monthly business session. The meeting will be followed by an afternoon period of cards and games, with all members asked to bring cards and tables.

Refreshment committee hostesses for the occasion will be Inez Hall, Elsona Martin, Annette Dietz, Helen Thompson and Emily Harrington.

Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock, on the fourth Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m. President Spratt urges all young men to join him in the valuable work being done now in the community.

Say Florida Governor Is Planning to Marry

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk appears headed for the altar with a dazzling Brazilian.

Kirk, Florida's first Republican governor since 1876, took his oath of office Tuesday. He immediately stunned Florida's predominantly Democratic legislature by calling for a special session to revamp the state's proposed new constitution. Critical reaction soon was forthcoming.

Then the handsome, twice-divorced Kirk created a social uproar at his inaugural ball Tuesday night when he appeared with a blonde, German-born socialite from Brazil.

Speculation that Kirk and Miss Erika Mittelfeld would wed was confirmed Thursday when her former husband said the wedding date would be Jan. 30.

Carlos Eduardo Dolabella, a Brazilian theatrical producer, said in Rio de Janeiro that he

'Angel' Performs Saturdays Only

Prior commitments of some cast members of "The White Angel," Woodstocker Holly Beve's runaway comedy hit now enjoying an extended run at the Little Theatre-off-the-Green in Woodstock, have necessitated cancellation of previously announced Friday night performances for tonight and Jan. 13. The laugh-filled shocker is being presented under the auspices of Performing Arts of Woodstock and has enjoyed a lengthy, exciting run.

The new schedule of performances will be on Saturday nights only. Dates are Jan. 7 and Jan. 14 and curtain time is 8:30 p. m. Those who missed "The White Angel" during the holiday season now have an opportunity to see the biting and hilarious satire before it closes later this month.

PAW has also announced a cast replacement for the two remaining performances. John Lefever, well remembered as the mayor in Holly Beve's "Afternoon of the Spaw," and as Pierrot, in Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo," productions of Woodstock Playhouse and PAW respectively, will replace Brian Brooks, who has been appearing in the role of the television commentator, Jack Merriwell.

Kennedy Renews Youth Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — In identical letters to some 600 complaining Californians, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has renewed his charge that Mayor Samuel Yorty is not providing the leadership Los Angeles needs.

And Yorty says the Kennedy letter has some of his city's citizens' ire.

The debate began face to face at an explosive Senate hearing on Aug. 23 when Kennedy and Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., complained about Yorty's style of city leadership.

Their harsh words touched off a deluge of letters. Kennedy's office reported he got about 900, and said they ran 4-to-1 in Yorty's defense.

A spokesman said he answered all but about 100, which were considered abusive and were discarded.

Ribicoff and the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization which he heads reaped a 3,000-letter harvest. Those letters were not answered.

Almost all of them criticized Ribicoff and the subcommittee and defended the Los Angeles mayor.

At the hearing, on the problems facing big cities, Yorty testified that many major Los Angeles problems were not in his domain, that they were within the province of independent agencies or communities.

Ribicoff said Yorty had waived jurisdiction in education, welfare, transportation, employment, health and housing.

Then Ribicoff declared: "Los Angeles brags all over the country about how big and rich you are, what you stand for, and I would say that the city of Los Angeles right now, from what you've said, doesn't stand for a damn thing."

"You might not have the responsibility," Kennedy told Yorty then, "but you are the mayor and it seems to me we could expect some leadership from you."

Yorty, home in Los Angeles, charged the criticism was all part of a plot designed to help propel Kennedy to the White House.

Soon, the letters began pouring in to the Capitol.

Kennedy's reply to critical letters said no insult to the city of Los Angeles or to California was intended, and none should be inferred.

He said much the same thing in a second letter, which went to people who wrote supporting his critical questioning.

But his letter to critics also said: "Mayor Yorty seemed to have neither the necessary information on the crucial factors involved in running a city — education, welfare, health, employment — nor any imaginative proposals to deal with these vital issues."

"While it is true that the mayor of Los Angeles, as in many other cities, lacks direct control or responsibility in many of these areas, he is still the elected leader of the city, and I believe — and still do — that he should provide leadership and stimulate public awareness of the problems."

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

RULE ON USE OF "JR." MODIFIED

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette" has been sent to Mrs. Wirt Maynor, Jr., of Warren, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Post: According to Emily Post's "Etiquette" (the last time I checked), it is proper for a son with the same name as his father to drop the "Jr." when the father is deceased. My husband is a "Jr." and our son has the same name with the "III." My father-in-law passed away when my husband was approximately 34 years old. He did not choose to drop the "Jr." for purely personal reasons. We were all living in the same community at that time and I can see where the change from "Jr." to "Sr." for him, from the "III" to "Jr." for our son, and simply Mrs. Wirt F. Maynor for my mother-in-law, might have resulted in some mix-up as to mail, etc. So regardless of etiquette, after many years we are still using all three and I'm sure will continue to do so. I can see how it might not have been too difficult in another era, but in these days of Social Security, veteran's records, insurance policies, etc., does the same rule still hold? As I said, we have continued to use "Jr." and the "III" but when I think of what changing those would have entailed, I shudder.

Ruth Maynor

Dear Mrs. Maynor: The basic rule reads that John Doe, Jr. does drop the junior after the death of John Doe, and III becomes Jr., etc. However, it also goes on to list a number of valid reasons for retaining it. If John Doe's widow lives in the same town, certainly confusion results if the son drops the Jr., especially if his mother objects to adding Jr. to her name. His mother and his wife are continually confused on charge accounts, mail, etc. For professional reasons it may be very important that he retain the Jr., or if the father were a very celebrated person, the son might feel he should not assume his identity. Beyond these reasons is the one you mention, that in these days of limitless forms and identities of all sorts, it is far simpler to keep the name you have always used. So I would say yes, the rule should be further modified to state that while a son may drop the Jr. when his father dies, it is not necessary if he does not wish to do so.

Who do you tip? When, and how much? You will find the answer to these questions in Elizabeth's L. Post's new sixteen page booklet "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Civil War Postage Stamp Designs Are Now On Exhibit at UCCC; Will Close Feb. 4

The Visual Arts Program of Ulster County Community College in its continuing Art Series is presenting a unique exhibition on the Birth of a United States Postage Stamp. The show which is free and open to the public will be on view in Gallery Hall on the third floor of the college in Kingston until February 4, 1967 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday to Thursday and 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Friday.

The stamp designs in the exhibition are from the Battle of Gettysburg "Civil War Centennial"—Commemorative Stamp—Issue of 1963. The stamp is one in the series marking the five year national observance of the Civil War Centennial.

In keeping with the show's theme there are 21 frames and nearly 1000 designs from Post Office Department Archives of United States, Division of Philately. The design originated from a competition held on February 1963 by United States Post Office Department for a design of the Battle of Gettysburg. This was the first such contest ever sponsored by the Post Office Department to all professional American artists and designers. This competition was unique in that professional artists and designers were given an opportunity to compete for the first time in a field that had been primarily confirmed to the designed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The unusual specifications and characteristic of stamp art and printing technique had tended to limit stamp design largely to the skilled craftsman of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

The purpose of the art competition, Postmaster General Day said, is to improve the design quality of postage stamps by encouraging wider participation in the creation of new stamps by country's professional artists.

The winning stamp was designed by California artist Roy Gjerston. He received the $500 award for topping the designs submitted by nearly 1000 of the nation's artists.

In the art Series Exhibition at the college can be seen the original stamp design by the winning artist Gjerston as well as the ten finalists and the entries of the competing artists.

Judges of the stamp design competition were the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, a 12 man group of experts in history, art, philately and printing processes. The stamp 0.84 by 1.44 inches, arranged horizontally. It was printed on the Giori presses and issued in panels of 50.

American Women Better Tipplers Than Men, Says Cabbie

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "In America the woman is the best tipper," said London taxi driver Burt Burns. "She tips better than the American man. In London it's the other way round."

Why?

"If I may generalize," replied Burt, "I think it's because in America the women have most of the money, and over here, it's the men who have it."

Burt shouted back through a small opening in the glass partition between driver and passenger:

"Some say it's because America is a woman's country and Britain is a man's land. But I really wouldn't know about that. I'd like to add this though — New York men tip as well as their ladies."

Cockney-born Burt Burns is such an outstanding character-driver that the British Travel Association selected him to pilot a cab around New York, across Canada and down into California a couple of years ago.

What is the average tip in London?

"I shouldn't be telling you, but it's between nine pence (about 10 cents) and a shilling (14 cents). But a lot of people — including even American visitors — don't tip at all."

How much does he earn a week?

"This town has 11,500 taxi drivers," said Burt. "Ask them all and I expect you'd get 11,500 different answers, but I'd say it averages between $33.60 to $39.20 a week — with tips."

London cabbies must be of proven good character, with health and eyesight to match, and they must know London inside out, all 700 square miles of it. This is based on their ability to know immediately the shortest route between any two points.

By law, a cabbie must take his passenger the shortest route. If road repairs or heavy traffic suggest another route he must ask the passenger's permission. He can be fined if he does not ask.

Pre-Cana Series Slated to Begin Jan. 15 Locally

A Pre-Cana Conference series for couples intending to be married within the next four months will be held at St. Joseph's School in Kingston on January 15, 17, 19 and 22.

The conference on Sunday, Jan. 15 at 2:30 p. m. will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Koerber, CSSR; on Tuesday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p. m. by the Rev. Dan Kirk, FMS; on Thursday, Jan. 19 at 7:30 p. m. by Dr. John A. Cook; and on Sunday, Jan. 22 at 2 p. m. by a panel of married couples.

According to the Rev. Joseph Mulligan of St. Joseph's, who is the Ulster County Director of Pre-Cana conferences, these conferences are designed to give the engaged couples a deeper understanding of marriage, its obligations, duties and privileges.

The conferences are sponsored by individual parishes under the direction of the Family Life Bureau of the Archdiocese of New York. The Kingston committee chairmanship is under Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sweeney Jr. All engaged couples in Ulster County are cordially invited to attend these Pre-Cana conferences and may do so by contacting their parish priest or St. Joseph Rectory.

Women of the Moose

Kingston Chapter 697, Women of the Moose, held its Child Care Chapter Night program Wednesday, Jan. 4 at 82 Prince Street, this city.

Chairmen for the evening were Carol Spath and Dolores Johnson. Plans for the spring program were announced. A pancake supper is planned for Saturday, Jan. 21 with Ann Peters as chairman. Refreshments and a social hour after the meeting.

Sharon J. Molloy Weds John Camarero

Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Molloy of 52 Spruce Street, this city, announce the marriage of their daughter Sharon Joan, to John Camarero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leoncia Camarero of 127 West Central Avenue, Bergenfield, N. J., on December 3, 1966 in St. Mary's Church, Kingston. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Martin Kelly was soloist and Theodore Riccobono was the organist.

Mr. Molloy gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an A-line gown of Chantilly lace with chapel length wattle train. Her headpiece of crystals and pearls held her silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white pompons with ivy.

Peggy Molloy, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue satin gown with blue flowered headpiece and short flirtation veil. Her flowers consisted of pink pompons.

Miss Rosemarie Scism of 85 Hudson Street, this city, was bridesmaid. Her pink gown was styled identically to that worn by the bride.

Richard Peters of Lake Hill, N. Y. was best man and Ross Craft of 276 Engle Street, Englewood, N. J. was usher.

A reception was given at the Dew Drop Inn in Eddyville. Mr. and Mrs. Camarero are residing in Englewood, N. J.

Miss Young is a graduate of Academy of St. Ursula, attended College of New Rochelle and was graduated from Syracuse University with a BA in 1966 and is now affiliated with the University of California in Los Angeles.

Mr. Lentricchia did his undergraduate work at Utica College, Syracuse University and received a Ph.D. from Duke University in 1966.

Mr. Lentricchia is an assistant professor of English at the University of California in Los Angeles.

KAREN FRANCES YOUNG

An August wedding is planned in Santa Monica, Calif.

WE THE WOMEN

Attitudes Made, Not Born

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It is rarely by chance—

That a husband and wife remain companionable through the years. (It takes a special effort on the part of one of them—usually on the part of the wife.)

That some people have many friends, while others go through a life feeling lonely and apart. (The ones who have friends are the ones who take the initiative in making friends and keeping them.)

That a woman's friends think her husband is intelligent, generous, and easy to live with. (If that's the picture she paints of him, conversationally, it is the one that is accepted.)

That a teen-ager has a courteous and respectful attitude toward adults. (You can be sure that's an attitude his parents have been hammering into him since childhood.)

That some women seem to entertain effortlessly, while others always appear to be harried hostesses. The relaxed hostess has everything so well-organized in advance that her entertaining just looks easy.)

That an older woman has a pretty face. (It may be chance in a girl or young woman, but by the time a woman is past middle-age her face reflects the kind of person she is. If she is a kind and gentle person her face will have a soft, appealing look.)

That a full-time homemaker has something to talk about besides her home, husband, children and local gossip. (If she can talk intelligently on a variety of subjects it means she hasn't let herself become completely bogged down by homemaking, but has managed to keep well-informed about world affairs and interested in art, music and literature.)

Cabrini School Will Have Annual Elks Yule Program

The Elks Club, No. 550, Kingston, will give its annual Christmas party at the Cabrini Home in West Park on Sunday, January 9 at 2 p. m. Started by the late E. Frank Flanagan in 1925, the Christmas programs have been given annually at the school with the Elks Club providing refreshments. Sunday's arrangements were completed by William Edelmut, member of the Cabrini Board of Directors, and Robert Smith, treasurer of Elks Club.

Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel, also a member of the Cabrini board, has announced that a program of entertainment will be provided through the courtesy of Mrs. Edward Flick, director of chorus at the John A. Coleman School in Kingston.

On the program will be Mrs. Flick, soprano, who will sing a Fred Waring arrangement of "Twas The Night Before Christmas," with Patricia Heybruck, Coleman sophomore, at the piano.

A guitar group will perform several carols. In the group are Martha Scafidi, Elizabeth Ann Schupp and Carol Witkowski, all juniors at Coleman, with Diane Carpino, a senior, providing the rhythm section.

Miss Agatha Snyder of Kingston will do a ballet to "Deck The Halls."

Paper Clothes Will Dominate Cradle To Grave Lives Now

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—We may live and die in paper from now on.

Baby girls born to disposable diapers and wrapped in paper blankets may now grow into discardable toddler dresses, spend their adolescence in sleeveless miniskirts, and eventually marry in throwaway wedding gowns.

Perhaps someone will even invent a paper shroud.

A new link in this paper chain was introduced Thursday by pretty mite-sized dolls wearing disposable children's wear designed by Margot West. They are cheap (less than $3), flameproof, tear and water resistant, and as charming and colorful as the pages of a picture book.

The maker, Joseph Love, who has kiddied them with his own progeny, swears they will survive four to five energetic wearings.

He enthusiastically lists these practicalities in wrapping wees in wood pulp:

Hems are shortened easily with scissors.

On trips the suitcase gradual-ly empties leaving room for souvenirs.

After parties, ice cream-covered dresses can be thrown away with the paper napkins, table cloth, paper plates and drinking cups.

Halting occasionally to hoist up their not-vet-paper stockings, the paper dolls traveled the runways in little shifts bright with flowers, quaint with jungle animals, or sparkling with metallic paint and plastic trim. Some styles were straight and simple with collars, cuffs, buttons and pockets drawn on with a brush.

A paper wedding dress—entirely appropriate considering the brevity of some marriages—will be a part of Saturday's bridal fashion show scheduled by the New York couture group for style writers attending its press week activities this week.

Fabrics soft and airy, woolly, slinky and floaty were designer Marie McCarthys' choice for the Larry Aldrich collection shown earlier Thursday. Except for the prices, there was something to please everybody—the military influence, side button dresses, smashing combinations of colors, a kimono dresses and tents, a bit of romantic lace, and some wickedness.

"Glance getters" were the words used to describe his dinner pajamas in black chantilly lace over nude crepe.

Filling the void made by designers devoted to bare knees and waistless silhouettes is coat and suit manufacturer Davidow.

With fedoras or high brimmed hats cocked over foreheads, hair cut severe, broad shoulders ramrod straight, slim skirts and short jackets, the models charged down the runway swining umbrellas or walking sticks like suffragettes on a rampage.

Bowling Association Announces Plans for Hall of Fame

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Dinner Planned For Inaugural In Early Spring

Kingston Bowling Association's executive committee got around to some long overdue business Thursday night.

It announced plans for a KBA Hall of Fame, with the induction of the first nominee scheduled before the end of the current bowling season.

Preliminary ground rules were discussed at a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel and two committees were appointed by William Einkenkel of New Paltz, the KBA president.

Named to the by-laws committee for the Hall of Fame were Al Sonnenberg, first vice president of the KBA; Charles Forst, a past president; and Charles J. Tiano, Freeman Sports Editor.

An awards committee was appointed to include William Mohr, past president; Ray Bellows and John T. Frederick.

The constitution and by-laws committee will recommend rules of eligibility and make its first report within two weeks.

Name Classifications
Hall of Fame elections will be based on several factors—bowling excellence, distinguished service to bowling and special citations. The by-laws will stipulate the minimum length of activity to qualify a bowler or official for election to the Hall of Fame.

A permanent, 10-man Hall of Fame board will make annual recommendations for elections from a master list of eligibles to be compiled by the KBA's executive committee. The list will include bowlers prior to the organization of the KBA in 1937. There will be a division for posthumous awards.

Attending the first session were: William Einkenkel, Addison Jones, Charles J. Tiano, Charles Forst, William Mohr, John T. Frederick, Ray Bellows and Albert O. Sonnenberg. Other members of the committee are: Gilbert Sampson, Emelio Primo and Clifton Quick. The next meeting has been set for Feb. 19.

Bailey Quintet Opens With Win

J. Watson Bailey school of Kingston opened its basketball season Thursday night, with a 57-54 victory over Newburgh South Junior at Newburgh.

Trailing 22-20 at halftime, the Bailey team, led by Bill Brady (22) and Gary Bellows (16) caught fire and forged ahead, 35-29, at the start of the fourth quarter. They clung to their lead despite a full court press by South.

Harold Anderson led the rebounders with 16 and also added nine points. Ralph Petrillo led the losers with 15 points.

J.W.B. hosts the John Coleman Frosh Tuesday at 3:45 in their home opener.

Love Is More Than Four-Letter Word to the Packers

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor, NEA

DALLAS, Texas (NEA)—The Green Bay Packers, it turns out, date upon each other and thrive on the affection they generate.

I mean, when Dave Robinson, the 245-pound linebacker, puts his arms around enemy quarterback Don Meredith in a rough $23,000 embrace on the last play Dallas had the ball in the championship game it was his expression of brotherly love.

The others actually articulate, to wit:

Bart Starr, the brilliant quarterback: "The ones great thing this club has going for it is the tremendous LOVE for one another on the ball club. I mean that. There's a closeness here that you cannot describe."

Vince Lombardi, brilliant coach: "They have great respect and admiration for each other. There's a great deal of LOVE for each other, if you know what I mean."

Carroll Dale, title game star as Bart's receiver: "There's only one way to put it. We have LOVE, one for another. This is really necessary to go out and do the very best you can for your teammates."

It's Togetherness
To Lombardi, a dedicated aphorist, it was suggested that "togetherness" might be an inclusive term for the Packers.

"I've used it before," said Vince curtly. "I think it's overdone."

All right, you want to love each other. Go ahead.

Dale, the split receiver who tore the Dallas secondary apart with his five receptions for 128 yards and one 51-yard touchdown romp, knows how it works. He came to Green Bay in July, 1965, after playing five seasons with the Los Angeles Rams. In those five seasons, the Rams never won more than five games any single year.

The Green Bay Touch

Lombardi had scheduled a golf tournament for the press the day

Dale arrived. Dale, as a member of the team, was invited to play. But that meant Mrs. Dale would spend the day alone in a motel in a strange town. What Carroll didn't know was that Bart Starr in the meantime had called home on Chateau Drive (in Green Bay, incidentally almost every player is listed in the public phone book). And Cherry Starr called Dale's wife and outlined the day's program for her, too.

"Green Bay is a small town," mused Carroll after his big game against the Cowboys. "All the wives are close together. They have to be put up with each other. I thought some of the stars like Jim Taylor and Bart might look down their noses at me, coming from a loser. But here at Green Bay we have, you know, tradition going for us."

That Mighty Defense

And love and a few other things, like the most sophisticated defense in pro football, plus the sharpest quarterback.

Although the Packers are regarded as relentless winners, with five Western Division championships converted into four NFL titles in seven years, this is not the best Green Bay team Lombardi has fashioned since he arrived in 1959 to put his brand of devotion on them.

They have trouble moving the ball periodically. With Paul Hornung displaced as Taylor's running mate in the backfield, the Packers don't grind out the yards as they used to. The four regular guards and tackles have a cumulative experience of 37 years in the NFL. Though they can come up strong for a particular game, the inconsistency of the Packers offense is a symbol of their age.

The Logical Team

Yet no one denies that Green Bay is the logical team to represent the NFL in the Super Bowl on Jan. 15 in Los Angeles. Anyone who thinks that playing Kansas City will be anticlimax for the Packers doesn't know Lombardi.

"It's a big game for us," said Vince before he had time to chart out the Packers plans.

In the last game of the regular season, the Packers met a Ram team that was hot and gunning for second place money, while Green Bay had already clinched its division title, and yet Lombardi had his boys souped up to win.

"He treats us all the same," defensive tackle Henry Jordan once said—"like dogs."

Everybody Is Serious

Jordan also capsuled the psychology of the Packers as they turned their attention to Kansas City.

"I'm looking forward to playing against the AFL," said Henry. "Because there's been a lot of controversy about it. Their brand of football was improved tremendously over the last few years. They're capable of whipping us if we don't watch out. And so we're going into it very serious—I hope."

The Packers love the idea of a $15,000 pay day, too.

MJM '5' Upsets Newburgh, 45-43

MJM School basketballers hit on 63 per cent of their shots to upset highly touted Newburgh North, 45-43, Thursday at the Newburgh gym.

With Gene Rios canning 21 points, MJM connected with 20 of 32 shots from the floor in a game in which the teams were never more than four points apart.

MJM led 4-3 at the quarter, trailed 20-19 at the half and was ahead, 35-33, going into the stretch. Jon Royal added 11 points and led in rebounds with 11. Jerry Barber picked off seven.

MJM's next game is against Saugerties Tuesday at 3:45 at the local gym.

Mat Clinic Set For New Paltz

Mid-Hudson School Study Council will sponsor a wrestling clinic Thursday, Jan. 12, at 7:30 p. m. at the Elting Gym, State University, New Paltz.

Although planned specifically for physical education teachers, the clinic is open to anyone interested in wrestling.

Clinic leaders will be two area college wrestling coaches—Mark Cranfield of Ulster County Community College and Joe Owens of State University at New Paltz.

JCC Overcomes Blanks to Win

Kingston Jewish Community Center basketballers overcame shut-outs in the first and third periods to defeat Newburgh JCC, 39-21, in a Mid-Hudson Valley JCC game at the Bailey gym.

The win was the third straight for Coach Ron Cole's charges.

Newburgh froze the action in the first and third quarters but were heavily outscored in the other two.

Larry Scanlon (9) and Al Kaplan (7) led Kingston. Ian Reiger (8) was high for Newburgh.

KHS Hosts Middies; Other Games Slated

Kingston High cagers, idle since their tournament championship victory last week over Philip Schuyler, begin their DUSO campaign tonight at the Kate Walton Field House against Middletown.

Tonight's area slate is a full one. In the other DUSO tilt, Liberty plays at Port Jervis. The DCSL schedule has Roosevelt at Poughkeepsie, Beacon at Lourdes, Arlington at Wappingers and Cardinal Farley at Saugerties.

In the UCL, New Paltz is at Highland, Ontario at Marlboro and Wallkill at Rondout.

State Tenpin Championships Best for the Average Bowler

The 42nd annual New York State Men's Championship Bowling Tournament, scheduled at Syracuse, April 1 to June 4, looms as the world's best tournament for the average bowler.

The prize list is expected to total $150,000 at least and the payoffs will be numerous as usual.

Last year there were 531 Five-man teams getting a slice of the prize money and the 75 per cent method of giving handicaps enabled many low-average bowlers to earn cash.

Last year's doubles events listed 1195 pairs in the money and there were 2347 bowlers who collected cash in the singles.

Entry fee is $25 per team, $10 in the doubles, $5 in the singles and $2 for those who wish to count their nine games in the all-events. It is not necessary to enter in all three events and many doubles pairs make annual trips to the state classic.

Bert Sarno, tournament manager, says that approximately 2000 requests for five-man reservations have been received already but many choice dates are still available. The 72 lanes at Strike 'N Spare will be the scene of the doubles and singles while Fairmount Bowling Center's 40 lanes will host the five-man team event.

Deadline for reservations is Jan. 22. The final entry date is February 19. Entry blanks contain complete details and are available from local bowling association secretaries, New York State Bowling Association Directors, bowling lanes or from the tournament manager.

Coleman Cagers Rip Burke, 67-35

Ten players crashed the scoring column, as John A. Coleman School Frosh overwhelmed the John S. Burke team, 67-35, in a one-sided contest at the Coleman gym.

Pat Harder hit 7 for 10 from the floor to lead Coleman with 15 points. Craig Renn grabbed 11 rebounds in which Coleman had a 50-17 edge over their opponents.

Chris Seche and Jay Maurer hit 11 and 10, respectively for Coleman. Seche led in assists with 13. McDowell paced the Burke squad with 7 points.

Diamond, Jameson First "600"

Two women bowlers—Kathy Diamond and Joan Jameson — cracked career-first "600" triples Thursday night, as area bowlers staged their biggest scoring spree of the 1966-67 season. No less than twenty nine "600" sets were reported.

Veteran Larry Petersen led the men's division with a 694 blast on lines of 214, 257, 223 in the Invitational Classic. Runnerup was the Saugerties blazer — Jack Farrell — who boosted his 197 average with 679 off 225, 256, 198.

Kathy Diamond cracked the charmed "600" circle for the first time with a 624 built on sets of 205, 199 and 220.

Joan Jameson, a steadily improving bowler, lined games of 185, 204, 216 for 605, also in the Ferraro Women's Invitational.

3 Brothers Egg Farms of the Invitational Classic grabbed team honors with a 1061 team solo and 3055 aggregate.

Other high male triples were Bill Peters' 665 in the Saugerties Merchants; Jim Rose, 276 and 660 in the Invitational Classic; Lou Pulcastro, 649, and Jack Ferraro, 647, both in the Classic.

Jean Conti, made the 540 Club twice, with 564 in the Thursday Afternoon league and 551 in the Invitational.

Berry's Insurance set a new Woodstock Major team solo record with 1062, eclipsing the 1033 rolled by Pleasant Inn.

Mid-City Quads

A score of 508 rolled by Geraldine Brandon was omitted from the Mid-City Quads report on Thursday.

Knicks Topple 76ers, 112-104

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big building was cold and the Big Bell was hot.

Star Wilt Chamberlain and Coach Alex Hannum of Philadelphia said after the 76ers lost 112-104 to the New York Knicks-erbockers Thursday night at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena that the building was cold, but they didn't think it affected their club's play.

It certainly didn't affect the Knicks' Big Bell — center Walt Bellamy who scored 29 points, 10 in the fourth quarter, and helped hold Chamberlain to 13 points.

The loss, the 76ers' first to the Knicks in seven games this season, snapped their winning streak at 11 games. New York, third behind leading Philadelphia and Boston in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, upped its record to 3-0 at 21-21. Philadelphia is 37-4.

In the only other game, San Francisco downed Los Angeles 122-91 in Oakland, Calif.

San Francisco posted its fifth straight victory over Los Angeles and boosted its Western Division lead to seven games over the Lakers with 21.

Nate Thurmond, hitting on eight of his first nine field goal attempts, triggered the Warriors with 24 points and 25 rebounds. Teammate Rick Barry, the league's leading scorer, collected 23 points. Jerry West was high for the Lakers with 21.

San Francisco led practically from the outset and built a 59-44 halftime bulge before pulling away after the intermission.

Carlino's 671 Paces Local Win

Led by Tom Carlino's 671, Mid-Hudson Sprinklers of Kingston overcame a 701 blast by Phil Versace to blank Hoe Corp. 3-0, in the Mardi-Bob All Star at Poughkeepsie.

Carlino posted games of 209, 209, 253 to pace the Sprinklers to a 911-1040-195-3036 effort.

Harold Broskie was runnerup with 237-615.

Versace, hottest bowler in the Mid-Hudson area, linked games of 248, 221, 232 for his 701.

The scores:

Hoe Corp. (9)

P. Versace 248, 221, 232 701

S. Doremus 186, 126, 164 556

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

Next big sports war could erupt on the international soccer scene. Wait'll the famous Santos team of Brazil hears that one of new professional franchises in the United States has pirated away one of its front-line stars (not Pele, but close). And the raids are going on all over the world right now. . . .

The National Professional Soccer League is also canvassing candidates for a commissioner, and high on the rumor list is Bert Bell of Pete Rozelle's NFL office, also a former general manager of the Minnesota Vikings. . . .

Johnny Unitas could tell Sandy Koufax all about what it's like to live with a bad arm. The Colt passer has had an ailing wing for eight years and learned to live with it. . . .

Jim Lynch's granddad is tickled pink over the recent progressive changes made in the Catholic church. "He's the only man I know of," says the Notre Dame All-American linebacker, "who is both a 32nd degree Mason and belongs to the Knights of Columbus. That'll make him a forerunner in this new movement." Grandpa Lynch is built for action, too, at 6-2 and 235 pounds—though he's 83 years old.

The pro scouts are shying away from one highly touted fullback at a western school because of the strange reports they receive about his off-the-field conduct. . . .

The one-man art showing Ernie Barnes, a former pro linemen, keynotes a trend toward the fine arts by football players. Bernie Casey, split receiver for the San Francisco 49ers, is a brilliant abstractionist who teaches design at Bowling Green. Gene Babb, a former 49er fullback, is in the same field at Austin College. And Jim Ridlon, once a 49er defensive back, is in the art education department at Syracuse, working for a master's degree in sculpture.

Ridlon remembers when Jack Kemp, now the Buffalo quarterback, was with the 49ers briefly and used to wake him at 7 a. m. on road trips to Chicago, so they'd be sure to make it to the museum when it opened. . . .

Karl Swann, the surprise quarterback for the Detroit Lions, played his high school football in Dallas, where his big rival for all-city honors was Jerry Rhome, now a Dallas Cowboy quarterback. "As a junior," recalls Karl, "we lost to Jerry's team, 21-20, on a last second touchdown pass that I'll still swear was trapped in the end zone. My senior year, we gave up only eight points all season, and that came when we lost to Jerry's team again, 8-7."

When Pat Studstill, the Lion flanker who's Sweetan's primary target, set a new Detroit pass receiving yardage record by catching a 45-yard touchdown pass in the Baltimore upset, he was running with two pulled leg muscles. . . .

Don Klosterman, the general manager of the Houston Oilers, is generally credited with getting John Brodie of San Francisco his fabulous $921,000 deal—when Brodie, who'd agreed to jump to Houston in 1967, was caught in the middle of the merger negotiations between the two pro leagues. On a recent trip to San Francisco, Klosterman called Brodie to say hello. They chatted for a few minutes. When Don hung up, his companion asked, "What'd Brodie say?" "Oh, nothing," shrugged Klosterman. "Just 'thanks a million.'"

Between you'n me, if educators really want to check up on the compatibility of football and college, they ought to investigate the All-American scholars and their educational pursuits once the season's over. A lot of 'em just pack up and go home. His senior year at Iowa, Alex Karras attended just three classes, and one of his cohorts registered for school, never went to class, but played out the season before skipping off to join the pros. . . .

Wildcats Lose For Fifth Time

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two of college basketball's Top Ten — make that 11 — were beaten Thursday night, but perhaps the most interesting defeat of the evening involved the University of Kentucky and what on earth is going on down there?

The Wildcats were knocked off in overtime by Vanderbilt, 91-89 and it was the fifth home defeat of the season for Adolph Rupp's charges, who used to be invincible at home.

Also defeated were eighth-ranked Cincinnati, which lost to Tulsa 65-64 in overtime and Bradley, rated in a tie for 10th place in The Associated Press poll, which was beaten by Wichita 83-69.

Top Ten winners were Louisville, 86-66 over North Texas State, Houston, 82-62 over Lamar Tech and Providence, 62-59 over Massachusetts.

Kentucky was rated third in the preseason poll and started as if nothing was amiss, beating Virginia 104-8

Rejected by Family

Artist Declares

Conditions Poor

For LBJ Portrait

WASHINGTON (AP) — The artist whose commissioned portrait of President Johnson was rejected by the First Family says he had to work with a sleeping subject and turn aside Mrs. Johnson's suggestions on how to paint the work.

And now, says artist Peter Hurd, he's lost interest in a second and smaller portrait he was doing of the President.

Presidential Disfavor

But even if the Johnsons don't like the first effort, there apparently is a demand for it from a museum and private collectors.

News of the turnaround became public Thursday and was confirmed by Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, who said the President "didn't like it and neither did she (Mrs. Johnson)." The portrait was unveiled for the Johnsons last spring. The Washington Post said Mrs. Johnson told Hurd that a stormy scene which ensued was so unforgettable she didn't expect ever to endure anything so grim again.

Suggests Shrinking

Hurd, known for his southwestern landscapes and portraits, said from his New Mexico ranch the fact that he turned down changes suggested by the Johnsons could have been responsible for their rejecting the portrait.

"I just couldn't follow their suggestions and at the same time not lose equality in the painting," Hurd said.

He said Mrs. Johnson wanted it reduced in size from 40 inches by 48 inches to 30 inches by 36 inches.

A Hazy Dome?

"She was most kind, most cordial," Hurd said. "But some of her ideas I just couldn't carry out, like making the Capitol Dome misty and hazy."

The sharply-defined Capitol is midway down the left side of the painting, in a scale putting it far behind Johnson. The President is standing with a book in his hand and is depicted from about the waist up. He wears a serious expression on the three-quarter view of his face.

Hurd said he was forced to work mostly from photographs because he was permitted only one 30-minute sitting with Johnson — and that when the President "was terribly fatigued from a very busy week in Washington" and fell asleep, said the artist. "He was terribly sleepy, dead beat, bushed."

"I knew the President couldn't possibly give me much time," said Hurd, "but I hoped for a little more than I got from him. You don't begin to get into it in a half hour."

Charges Double Up for Spa Man

A 47-year-old upstate man, who faced two motor vehicle violations, ended up early today with five charges after he reportedly tried to outrun two state troopers in a slow moving 1959 car along Route 9W from Milton to Middle Hope in Orange County.

As the result of the incident, Edmund Bass, of Saratoga Springs, was in the county jail this morning under sentence of 60 days in lieu of $100 fines, it was reported.

According to Trooper Peter Bebenese of the Highland substation, he and Trooper Stanley Kowalik stopped Bass near Milton to check his motor vehicle certificates. Troopers said Bass had a license that had not been validated and his car lacked the required inspection sticker.

As the troopers started to escort Bass to a justice's court, the motorist reportedly made a U turn and headed south. Troopers radioed ahead and the state police from the Newburgh detail assisted Bebenese and Kowalik in boxing in Bass' car.

Bass was taken before Justice of the Peace Patrick Mataraza, Town of Marlboro. He was charged with an inspection and license violation, failure to keep to the right, failure to signal and failure to comply with an order of a police officer.

Bass pleaded guilty and was sentenced.

Twice Widowed

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP) — Viet Cong in South Vietnam and vehicles in North Dakota twice have widowed a Grand Forks motorist of five in less than three years.

Darlene Strandberg was notified by the Defense Department that her husband, Sgt. Irvin Strandberg, 29, died Tuesday after he was struck by shrapnel from an exploding mine.

Mrs. Strandberg lost her first husband, Ray Skari, 34, in a truck-car collision April 6, 1964, in a heavy snowfall near Grandin, N.D.

Adams Under Knife

HANOVER, N. H. (AP) — Sherman Adams, former presidential aide and governor of New Hampshire from 1949 to 1953, underwent an operation at Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital Thursday for an undisclosed ailment.

A spokesman said the operation was successful and Adams was in satisfactory condition. Adams, 66, was special assistant to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower from 1953 to 1958. Adams now resides in Lincoln, N.H., 50 miles northeast of Hanover.

LOOKING FOR RAIN that has eluded the southern Great Plains since early October is Texas farmer Ken Kendrick in the Texas Panhandle. Normally used as a winter pasture for cattle, the fall-seeded crop in the major producing area has come to a standstill from lack of moisture.

Red Guard Youths Have New Target In Power Tussle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A four Communist theoretician is the No. 1 target now of the apparently dominant faction in Red China in an intense struggle for power.

"He is such a dull dog to have such influence," a Western diplomat once said of the chairman of Communist China's government, fragile silver-haired Liu Shao-chi.

Before the power struggle began in earnest last August, Liu Shao-chi was widely regarded as the heir apparent to the aging chairman of the Communist party and father of China's Red revolution, Mao Tse-tung.

Today, Liu appears to have been pushed down the ladder of the hierarchy, below a number of relative newcomers.

Although Liu is under heavy attack from the partisans of the faction headed by Defense Minister Lin Biao, who evidently has had Mao's blessing, the struggle is not yet over. Liu is believed still to have resources of power, particularly among the party-controlled labor unions.

Liu is accused by the Mao-Lin faction, and by the teen-age Red Guards who have spearheaded their attack, of having "taken the capitalist road" and of leaning toward "modern revisionism." That's their term for the Soviet brand of communism.

Should Liu lose the struggle, it would be an ironic end for a long career as Mao Tse-tung's chief comrade in arms and adviser throughout the Chinese Communist revolution. His career, his family and perhaps even his life are imperiled.

"A party member is required to sacrifice his personal interests unconditionally," Liu has said.

In the West, Liu would be known as an organization man. On the surface he appears cold, emotionless.

Appeals for Donations

BOSTON (AP)—The Museum of Fine Arts has appealed to the public for $13.4 million in donations by 1970 — the institution's 100th birthday.

Megalopolis Reaches Vt.

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Megalopolis — the densely populated urban area that stretches along much of the east coast — has finally reached the Green Mountain State.

The Vermont Central Planning Office held a conference recently to discuss "megalopolitan pressures on Vermont."

There are only three states in the union which have less population than Vermont, according to the last census.

MARIE GLEASON

Named Entrant For 'Miss Hope'

Marie Gleason, of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, She is an entrant in the "Miss Hope—1967" contest being sponsored by the American Cancer Society's Ulster County Unit.

"Miss Hope of Ulster County" will compete in the state-wide competition in the preliminary judging at the New York State Division's office on or before March 1, 1967.

Twelve candidates will be selected during the judging to participate in the finals at the Crusade Kick-Off in Rochester on March 30, 1967.

The local Committee for the Miss Hope contest is headed by William J. Mathews Jr., Woodstock, member of the public information committee of the Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society.

Order of Arrow Annual Dinner Is Held at Elmer's

Over 100 members and fathers of Half-Moon Lodge No. 28, Order of the Arrow were in attendance at the Lodge's annual banquet, Dec. 27, at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

The Order of the Arrow, an honor camping society to which Scouts are elected by their fellow troop-members, customarily holds its banquet during the Christmas holiday season to enable older members who are home from college or the service to attend.

Half-Moon Lodge No. 28 is affiliated with the Rip Van Winkle Council, BSA.

The Kingston Chapter of the Lodge hosted this year's affair, and banquet arrangements were under the direction of Sanford Whitman, chapter chief, and William Kearney, vice-chief. They were assisted by Chapter Advisor Norman Wilson of Stone Ridge and Lodge Advisor Thomas Nolan of Saugerties. Acting as toastmaster at the banquet was Lodge Chief Dean Bryden of Saugerties. Alexander Macdonald of Hurley, scout executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, welcomed the group on behalf of the council and thanked the Lodge as a whole, as well as several individual members, for the many services and camp improvements performed for the Council's Camp Tri-Mount during 1966.

Featured speaker was Harry Thayer, president of WGHQ.

As a climax to the evening, the Order of the Arrow members were treated to one of the very first showings of a new movie, "Tribute to Tri-Mount," produced during the 1966 camp season, in color, by Marinus Wedorp and son Thomas of Saugerties. The film takes the spectator on a lively tour of the camp and all its activities and areas, through the eyes of a Cub Scout being shown around the camp by an older Boy Scout.

The movie brought back many happy, amusing and nostalgic memories to all present, particularly those who had not been at Camp Tri-Mount for the past summer or two. The film will be used in promoting attendance at Camp Tri-Mount in the 1967 camping season, which opens on July 2.

Church comes from the Greek word meaning Lord's house.

Georgia Governor

Please Stand Up?

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Legislature convenes in three days, but there still is doubt whether the lawmakers can decide who will be the state's next governor — Democrat Lester G. Maddox or Republican Howard Callaway.

The outcome of the gubernatorial contest in the Nov. 8 general election has been steeped in uncertainty since the initial Democratic primary last September.

Uncertain Despite Court

Uncertainty remains even though the U.S. Supreme Court has upheld a state constitution provision which allows the General Assembly to elect a governor if the voters fail to make a choice.

Last-ditch legal action is pending before the State Supreme Court in yet another effort to give the voters another chance at settling the issue in either a runoff or a special election.

Maddox Favored

The general election resulted in a stalemate when neither Callaway nor Maddox got the required majority of voters due to a write-in campaign for former Gov. Ellis Arnall. Callaway got 451,092 votes, Maddox 448,588 and Arnall 57,832.

Maddox is the heavy favorite to win in the legislature, composed mostly of Democrats. Callaway favors a runoff but has said he thinks he has a chance in the 259-member General Assembly.

Families Flee

Dutchess Blaze

A two-alarm fire late Thursday night forced occupants of two families at 85 Mansion Street, Poughkeepsie, to evacuate their homes.

The fire started in the living room of the second floor apartment occupied by Albert Crocco and his family. Mrs. Crocco and children were at home at the time and they were assisted to the street by police without incident.

Fire officials believe the fire started in a television set shortly after 9:45 p. m. Mrs. Mary Murray, a wheelchair patient, was carried from her first floor apartment by firemen and police.

Fire Chief Irving Merriack was in command of firefighters who confined damage to the upper part of the residence. The first alarm was recorded at 9:51 p. m. and the second at 9:56 p. m.

Seek Clean Fuels

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander Rihm Jr., assistant state health commissioner for air resources, says the state stands ready to aid the city and Consolidated Edison Co. in seeking fuels containing less contaminants.

Rihm told the third session Thursday of a federal conference on air pollution abatement in the metropolitan area that the state shared the concern of both Mayor John V. Lindsay and Austin N. Heller, city commissioner of air pollution control, for expediting C. Edison's use of lower-sulfur fuels.

The state was prepared to aid the city and the utility, Rihm said, "in a search for higher grade fuel oil and adequate supplies of natural gas and low-sulfur coals."

Withhold Verdict On Death of Man Discovered in Car

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, said today he is withholding an official verdict in the cause of death of Arthur Bozella, 27, of 20 Kilmer Avenue, Poughkeepsie, whose body was discovered in the trunk of his abandoned car in the Town of Wawarsing.

Coroner Chipp said he is awaiting reports from the State Police Laboratory of certain tests that were requested.

Car Abandoned

According to State Trooper John Huntoon of Ellenville, a car was found abandoned on Granite Road, Town of Rochester, on Tuesday. The vehicle was towed to Ellenville and a check by state police with the Motor Vehicle Bureau disclosed the owner of the car was Bozella.

Troopers contacted the man's parents in Poughkeepsie, but they had no idea where their son might be at the time. They said he had been working in the Ellenville area as a free lance photographer taking pictures at hotels. Authorities checked all hotels and taxi firm offices in the area but found no one who had seen Bozella, who had not been seen by his family since Jan. 1, it was said.

Key Was Made

Trooper Huntoon said a key was made for the trunk of Bozella's car and yesterday at 12:30 p. m. the trunk was opened and the body found. It was said Bozella had a prior history of illness.

Investigation of the death is continuing.

Snow, Cold Hit Over Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A severe snowstorm, with gusty winds causing much drifting, swept across wide areas in the West and spread into the northern Plains and sections of the northern Midwest today.

Cold air, with temperatures below zero and in the teens in many areas, added to the discomfort.

Snow fell during the night and early morning from Montana and northern Arizona across the central Rockies to the Great Lakes region. Heaviest amounts were in mountain areas.

The drifting snow prompted warnings from the Weather Bureau for wide areas from Utah and northern Arizona across the northern and central Rockies to northwestern Oklahoma, Minnesota and Iowa. Heavy amounts were indicated in many parts of the storm belt.

Light snow fell in northern Illinois, southeastern Wisconsin, southern Lake Michigan, southwestern Lower Michigan and northern Indiana. Heavier accumulations were reported in parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Forecast Snow For Weekend, Warming Trend

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday:

Temperatures will average a few degrees below normal, with daytime highs expected in the 20s in most areas and nighttime lows mainly 5 to 15. Colder weather is likely by Sunday, with some moderation by Tuesday.

Total average precipitation will be 1/2 inch, although considerably heavier in the mountains.

Bonuses Afford Many Pleasures For E-K Workers

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) —

Miss Mary E. Munch, a copy assistant at Eastman Kodak Co., is planning a vacation trip to Italy and she doesn't need to worry about money.

She is one of 42,000 Kodak employees in Rochester to see their annual wage dividends for varying purposes. Education and retirement are high on the list.

Miss Munch has been with the company for six years.

Since 1912, Kodak has paid approximately $813 million in dividends to its employees. This includes the 1967 bonus to be paid March 17.

The average dividend, for those who reach maximum after five years with Kodak, is just under two months' pay. Factory employees, office clerks and executives receive about 17 per cent of their annual pay.

In March, Kodak will distribute $49.1 million to its Rochester employees. Of this amount $36.4 million will be in cash and $12.7 million will be contributed by the company to its employee savings and investment plan, a deferred profit-sharing program.

The company-wide dividend this year totals $69.3 million, with $16.8 going into the savings program.

'Strangler' Faces Unrelated Counts In Mass. Trial

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A mental patient who claims to be the Boston strangler is scheduled for trial next week on charges not related to the stranglings.

Defense Atty. F. Lee Bailey says his client, Albert DeSalvo, is the man who strangled 11 women in eastern Massachusetts between June 1962 and January 1964.

The Associated Press learned that the defense plans to identify DeSalvo as the strangler in next week's trial in Middlesex County Superior Court.

A grand jury indicted the 34-year-old house painter-handyman in 1965 on 16 counts of robbery, assault, burglary and sex offenses.

DeSalvo has been confined to the Massachusetts State Hospital at Bridgewater since shortly after his arrest in 1964. After his indictment DeSalvo was adjudged mentally unfit to stand trial.

Deacon Litz Dies

POMPAUNO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Deacon Litz, 68, a noted auto racer for almost a quarter-century, died here Tuesday night. The body was to be taken to Williamsville, N.Y., for services and burial.

Litz was a star when duesenbergs and Millers dominated American closed-circuit races. He competed in the Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile from 1928 to 1941, with a best finish of fourth in 1934. He led the 1929 race for 49 laps.

1,000 Face GE Layoff

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — More than 1,000 employees at General Electric Co. plants in this city will be laid off beginning Jan. 27 as a result of cutbacks in the firm's Semiconductor and Major Television departments.

An official of the company announced Thursday a decrease in sales and an imbalance in inventories in the departments forced the decision to lay off 1,075 workers.

About 14,000 persons are employed by General Electric in this city.

NASA Readies Mousetronaut For Space Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — A miniature mouse no larger than a man's thumb has been fitted with pea-size radio transmitter and is being zoomed for possible future space journeys.

Dr. Orr E. Reynolds, director of bioscience programs for the Administration, displayed the National Aeronautics and Space variety of that never drinks water, at a briefing on space research Thursday.

Desert Mouse

"You've heard of astrobugs — this is an astromouse," Reynolds said. "He is a desert mouse of the Southwest, a pocket mouse and has a lot of capabilities for space research."

"He doesn't need water, eats only sunflower seed, and has no liquid excretion."

Reynolds said one of the instrumented mice may be sent into orbit along with three astronauts and in an Apollo spacecraft.

Another may be sent far out into space in a probe in a study of biological specimens outside the earth's gravitational sphere.

The tiny radiotransmitter was planted in the cheek pouch normally used by the mouse to store food. Reynolds said the transmitter also could be placed in the animal's abdomen.

Heard Clearly

Whenever Reynolds held a receiver near the mouse, the signals from the animal's transmitter could be heard clearly. But the mouse continued nibbling food unconcerned.

Reynolds said the radio telemetry equipment could continue broadcasting the mouse's temperature for six months.

He said some hospitals are planning to test the use of the miniature transmitter in internal studies of persons suffering from ulcers or other stomach or intestinal disorders.

The patient would swallow the small transmitter. As it coursed through its digestive system it would broadcast internal temperatures. A temperature rise around a fevered condition such as an ulcer or tumor would pinpoint the trouble spot.

Terms Gotham Site for Power Plant Inadvisable

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lot of noise, the possibility of air pollution and the need for a tall exhaust stack are factors which would make it inadvisable to place a gas-turbine generating unit in New York City, an official of Consolidated Edison Co. said Thursday.

"M. L. Waring made this comment at a Federal Power Commission hearing on his company's application for a license to build a hydroelectric generating plant on the Hudson River at Cornwall, N.Y."

He was cross-examined by Albert Butzel, an attorney for the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference, one of the conservation groups opposing the project.

Butzel questioned Waring on the possibility of a gas-turbine plant as an alternative to Cornwall.

Waring compared the noise of such plants with that of jet planes taking off.

He said the need for a high stack would require construction of such a plant on waterfront sites and such locations are scarce.

The commission examiner, Ewing G. Simpson, twice admonished Butzel for what Simpson said was repetitious questioning.

Points to Record
At one point, Simpson said Butzel had taken "an exorbitant amount of time" seeking answers that were in the record. When Butzel sought to show the line his questions would take, Ewing told him: "there is to be no argument about it."

The examiner also closed off a lengthy line of questions Butzel had put to Waring on the experiences of the Holyoke (Mass.) electric system with a gas turbine generator.

Butzel said he was taking "extreme exception" to Simpson's rulings.

But Pivotal for President

Doubt Congress Will Have Creative Year

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is heading into his toughest year so far although 1967 doesn't promise to be a very exciting year by itself.

Yet, what happens in 1967 — and what happens to Johnson and what he makes happen — may determine whether he will seek re-election in 1968.

But events by themselves, unless Johnson makes some wretched mistakes in handling them, may not be the dominant factor in his decision to run again or in the Democrats' decision to make him their candidate again.

Foe Important Factor

A very important factor and perhaps the most important one in the end — although hardly anything is being said about it now — is the kind of candidate the Republicans pick for their nominee in 1968.

It was extremely important when President Harry S. Truman ran against New York's Thomas E. Dewey and beat him in 1948.

Like Johnson after the death of President John F. Kennedy, when Truman took over after the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, he rocked along on a great tide of sympathy and goodwill for a while.

Gradually, his troubles piled up. The cold war began and at

Thai Will Send 1,000 Troops to Fight Viet Reds

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today that Thailand will send more than 1,000 jungle-trained troops to South Vietnam as soon as possible.

The premier said the troops would be volunteers from the regular army and the reserves. Thailand now has an air transport unit and two small navy ships with the anti-Communist forces in Vietnam.

Thanom told a special news conference the exact size of the Thai expeditionary force and their time of departure have not been determined. He said an official call for volunteers will be issued soon.

He said the National Security Council and the cabinet have approved the sending of troops.

End 164-Day Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of Plumbers Union Local 2 trudged back to construction sites in Manhattan and the Bronx today, ending a crippling 164-day strike.

"It looks like a back-to-work situation all over," a pleased contractor announced after a spot survey.

The sites where plumbers again picked up their tools for the first time since last July 25 included massive building projects that were among $600 million in stalled construction in the two boroughs.

Child Health Clinic

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Town Clerk's Office, Rosendale on Thursday, Jan. 12 from 1 to 3 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Report Defines Likely Issues For '67 Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — The bipartisan temporary commission making preparations for the State Constitutional Convention submitted Thursday an introductory report attempting only to define the issues most likely to face the delegates in Albany.

Among those questions the commission says will have to be considered by the 186 delegates convening in Albany April 4 are legislative reapportionment, voting and registration qualifications, anti-discrimination provisions, police procedures, terms of office of legislators, the relationship between state and local governments and strikes by public employees.

The 18-member commission said it planned to present a series of reports covering: individual rights and liberties, social and economic policies, public finance, state government, local government, constitutional revision and simplification and convention organization and procedures.

The commission said it also would report to the governor and the Legislature on legislation needed "to prepare for an effective convention."

Then came his truly tremendous and troublesome years: The creation of NATO, the Korean War, the assaults by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. But if his standing with the electorate seemed low, it was anything but that with historians.

In 1962, ten years after he left the White House, a poll of 75 historians placed him among the near great among the presidents with the reservation that future historians might well list him with the great ones.

The popularity of Johnson's new presidency sailed through 1964, climaxed by an overwhelming victory over his Republican challenger, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who unwittingly aided and abetted Johnson's victory by being way out of step with his times, as the voters showed.

Then, in 1965, with the help of his Democratic-run Congress, Johnson reached new heights: He got through the greatest batch of major legislation in one year in American history.

Nevertheless, it was in 1965 that Johnson began to undermine his own popularity by the firm, strong stand he took in putting the United States up to its neck in the war in Vietnam.

But it wasn't until 1966 that the edge of his popularity wore off and the public opinion polls continually showed his prestige with the people going down.

Same as Truman's Case
It was in the off-year elections of 1966 — just as in the case of Truman in 1948 — that the popularity of Johnson's leadership landed in the basement. The Republicans, while not regaining control of Congress, won enough seats to cut down Democratic control.

Even within his own party, particularly among governors, Johnson's leadership was attacked. And Congress in 1967 may spend more time examining some of the Johnson programs already on the books than in approving new ones.

Therefore, this does not look like a very creative year in Congress. But it is in this year, with the Vietnamese war continuing, that Johnson must start rebuilding his political future if he hopes for the presidency again.

Dr. Grunberg Is Named by Rocky To State Post

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A psychiatrist from Saskatchewan, Canada, has been named deputy commissioner for mental retardation in the State Mental Hygiene Department.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced the appointment Thursday of Dr. Frederic Grunberg, 39, to the post at an annual salary of $28,944.

Grunberg, who was born in Alexandria, Egypt, will resign in February from his post as director of psychiatric services of the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health. He is to assume his new job early in the spring, Rockefeller said.
